Yesterday was Columbus day. Many stopped work, much to their satisfaction. About the only attention paid to Columbus outside of perfunctory speeches was in vaudeville, thus:

Who was Columbus?
He discovered America.
Where is he now?
In Ohio.

Paris dances the Charleston, jumping, bumping, hideous twisting of feet, knees and all the rest of it, to the tune of "Red Hot Mamma." If Louis XVI and his Marie Antoinette could come back, holding their head on their necks, and see that horrible change from the old minuet, each would say "I am glad they cut our heads off before this happened."

Massachusetts Institute of Technology allows young female students to smoke at dances and other social events in the Walker Memorial building.

For girls intending to marry, smoking is all right, although it makes the moustache grow, and the nose red. Girls that have lives worth while, to marry and have children, should postpone smoking until after 45—and give the children at least half a chance.

A man with a piece of property hard to sell was asked, "What would you do if a man offered you $1,000,000 for it?" He replied: "First of all I would insure the man's life."

The United States sought to insure the life of Martin B. Madden, chairman of the appropriations committee in the house of representatives.

He says the army has been a "spendthrift in the air, wasting millions in experiments without meaning," and he adds that the army ought to build 1,500 new flying machines a year. That's common sense.

Death in the electric chair of Edward Stevenson, a Negro, is news. Killing one murderer more or less wouldn't mean anything, but Stevenson was paralyzed from the waist down, and four guards carried him on

LECTURE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Frank Church Will Open Eagles' Lyceum Course.

Frank Church, lecturer, humorist and entertainer, will appear in the Eagles' temple, Friday evening, of this week in the opening number of the lyceum course which is being offered under the auspices of the degree team of East Liverpool Aerie No. 457, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Church has been given the nickname, "Fighting Red." He went to Europe during the World war where he lectured to America's fighting forces. In this work he was a member of the "Flying Squadron," a group of speakers. Church plays a half dozen instruments and was called "the one-man band" by the troops. He sings humorous songs to his own accompaniment, and gives instrumental solos on the autoharp.

Among his lectures, one of which will be given Friday night, are "The Call of The New America." "The Unexpected," "Ginger and Snuff, or How to Hang on Both Feet," and "Home Sweet Home, or Sunshine With a Punch."

Walls of Fire-razed Cleveland Building Threaten to Fall

Two firemen were slightly injured yesterday, fighting the blaze.

All members of Ceramic Rebekah Lodge are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. temple West 6th St., tonight at 8:30 to attend services for our deceased brother David Jessop.

PITTSBURGH BASEBALL CRAZY AS 45,000 RUSH FOR LAST CLASH SEATS

Forbes Field Stands Taxed to Capacity When Senators and Pirates Meet in Seventh and Deciding Battle of World's Series in Land of Smoke—Scalpers Busy Seeking Customers.

SKITTISH MOMENT FOR HUMAN-FLESH AS PLAYERS STRUGGLE FOR TITLE

Odds of Six to Five Offered on National League Champs Who Expect Washington to Take Second Money and Punch on Chin as They Hammer Ball in Crucial Contest.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—As skittish a moment as ever confronted mortal flesh arrived this afternoon with the seventh and final game of the world's series, and Blondin, crossing Niagara Falls on a tight rope, could afford a misstep no less than, could the Pirates and Senators. Tied at three-all, the team that didn't hit the bull's eye was the team that was to take second money and a punch on the chin.

More than 45,000 fans, the record crowd of the series was here to say that the Washington Senators, having cracked behind a three to one lead, was due for the block. Translated this means that the Senators were to block one with their chin and take a fall. Plenty of money at odds of six to five was staked on this theory.

However, two hours before the gong there was more than a bare possibility that nothing would transpire. Nothing that is except one little drop of rain after another. The forecast was for rain later in the day but noon found the situation so dark that it looked as though the elements meant to score a news beat on the forecaster.

Both Clubs Pray for Rain.

However, if the weather remained as is, Washington hardly figured to be altogether displaced since it was the general thought that Walter Johnson was due to pitch his third game and, mayhap, his third victory of the series.

Walter likes a dark background for his fast one, and today's was no darker than ink on a blackboard.

However, a postponement would prove a boon of great magnitude to both clubs, but a trifle more so to Pittsburgh. It would assure the third appearance of Vic Aldridge in the series and the Senators have seen all too much of him already.

Trifle Lighter at Noon.

Oldham won three games and lost two this season and appeared in only two complete games.

It didn't seem logical to drop a nickel pitcher in the slot and expect to see a million dollar ball game shoot out, but nevertheless, this was said to have been McKechnie's plan no later than 11:15 this morning.

A postponement would have meant a further rest for Johnson's trick leg, but altogether it meant more to the Pirates to carry the situation through another 24 hours. It began to look a trifle lighter shortly after the noon hour, however, there being the moist hint that the sun still existed out where the blue begins.

Morrison In Relief Role.

The great fight of the Pirates in smashing their way back from a discredited second runner to an absolute stand-off with no questions asked, brought the entire town up standing. Quite a lot of the boys remained in that position for the afternoon but through no choice of theirs. Standing room tickets, at $3.30 per lineal and physical foot, were sold for the first time during the series.

Speculators plied their nefarious traffic in hotel lobbies, on street corners and where they might in a short of catch-as-catch-can-miss system of operations. The young men were in excellent voice but the crowd stayed away from them in droves, waiting for a bear movement in the market. It came around noon when the boys started to shave prices considerably.

The Pirates burst upon the scene shortly afterward, and, almost simultaneously, came a report that McKechnie planned to start Oldham only so that he might reply immediately with Johnny Morrison. The latter it seemed felt that he could give a representative account of himself only if he came on in the guise of a relief pitcher.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Pittsburgh has been comparatively dry during the world's series games played there, according to a report submitted to headquarters here today by Frederick Baird, the Pittsburgh enforcement administrator.

REV. J. L. SHAW GIVEN LETTER OF DISMISSAL BY PRESBYTERY

PASTOR PRESENT

Will Conduct Services for Evangelical Association.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Toronto, and who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool two years ago, accepted a letter of dismissal from the United Presbyterian church when he appeared before the Steubenville Presbytery, meeting at the Grant Hills church, near Salineville, yesterday, to answer charges brought by the Cleveland Presbytery.

Shaw, who was charged with disrupting the Brooklyn United Presbyterian church of Cleveland by his practice of "divine healing," attended the meeting, bringing with him a mass of affidavits and papers with fourteen members of his congregation at the Cleveland tabernacle.

Rev. W. H. Hubbell of Cleveland and Dr. C. A. Beach of Akron, members of the Cleveland Presbytery, appeared against him.

The judiciary committee of the Steubenville Presbytery heard both sides of the case separately, then called both sides together. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second church of East Liverpool, chairman of the committee, ordered its three conference held in secret.

A compromise was effected when the presbytery voted to accept the recommendation of its committee.

This was, that as Shaw had suggested, he withdraw from the church, thus removing the cause of the complaints of the Cleveland presbytery; the presbytery remove its complaints and grant Shaw as a minister in good standing a letter of dismissal from the church to the Evangelical association of Cleveland.

Rev. E. L. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver church, near West Point, vice moderator of the presbytery, ordered Shaw to be given the letter of dismissal.

Shaw, who went to the Brooklyn church and started his practice of "divine healing" about a year and a half ago, later going to his own tabernacle, said he would continue to conduct his services there as usual in his new connection with the Evangelical association.

C. E. West Given Permit to Conduct Street Dance Here

Mayor Brown has granted Clarence E. West of East Sixth street permission to conduct a dance on Second street on Hallowe'en night, October 31.

West has engaged a band to furnish music. The street is to be roped off from the C. & P. railroad tracks to Union street. There will be round and square dancing.

The dance will probably be the only general observance of Hallowe'en here. West conducted a dance on the new West Fifth street paving a year ago.

Jersey City Postoffice Clerk Stabs Young Wife to Death

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—George Winters, young postoffice clerk, stabbed his 21-year-old wife, Margaret, to death early today in their home here, according to police. Winters, after stabbing himself, was arrested.

Jealousy was said to have caused the murder.

Mrs. Winters went to an inn last night with two girl friends, two men and a chaperon. Winters works at night and his wife was lonely, police said. The couple had quarreled over this question for the past two months according to neighbors.

Winters came home and not finding his wife inquired at the house of Mrs. Winters' friend, Cecilia Maccricard. He found his wife hiding under a bed, police said.

Winters then walked the streets, later returning home where Mrs. Winters had gone. Neighbors heard screams shortly afterward and called the authorities.

Mrs. Winters was found a few feet from the bed with a knife wound in her shoulder, neck and heart. She was dead.

Winters was bleeding from a self-inflicted stab wound.

Cyrena Van and Jacques Gordon in Joint Recital Will Open 1925-26 Season on Monday, Oct. 19.

Season tickets for the 1925-26 series of recitals to be given under auspices of the Civic Music association will open at the box office of the Ceramic theater at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The series of concerts will open at the theater next Monday when Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Jacques Gordon will offer a joint recital.

Miss Van Gordon is recognized as one of the youngest grand opera stars of the day and is among the most popular concert singers. Twelve years ago when Cleofante Campanini was director of the Chicago Opera company, he heard Miss Van Gordon sing in a religious pageant in Cincinnati. So impressed was he with her voice and dramatic powers that he immediately offered her the contralto role with the Chicago organization. Her debut with the organization was made in 1913, when, at the age of 20, she sang the role of Amneris in "Aida."

Miss Van Gordon's greatest opportunity came when, under Mary Garden's directorship, the Chicago Opera company, she was given the role of Brunnhilde in the "The Valkyrie."

The East Liverpool concerts will be open only to members of the Civic Music association.

ELWOOD JUDY ARRESTED FOR CHICKEN THEFT AFTER FARMER OPENS FIRE

Five Fowls Found in Sack After Yellow Creek Man's Gunshots Riddle Rear End of Automobile.

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 14.—Elwood Judy, 28, of East Liverpool, is under arrest here today on a charge of stealing chickens from Frank Vandyke's coopes at Yellow Creek. Judy, who is a World war veteran, said he and two companions drove to Wellsville to look for "chickens." They were unable to attract the flapper variety to their automobile, he said, so they drove out Yellow Creek and caught a number of the other brand.

Vandyke discovered the trio in one of the coops and opened fire on the automobile when they fled. The whole back end was torn out of the machine and Judy was captured. His two companions escaped. Five fowls were found in a sack in the car.

Three Runaway Boys Held in Youngstown For Train Jumping

The lads are: Edward Barker, 16, 654 Minerva street, Clarence Stephens, 15, Beechwood, and William Strauss, 16, 637 Youngs alley. The Barker and Stephens lads are wards of the probate court, according to McShane.

Relatives asked local and county officials to assist in locating the boys. At first it was believed that they had gone to Columbus.

Relatives were to go to Youngstown this afternoon to bring them back here.

Twins Court, Wed Together; Babies Born at Same Time

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Charles De Roberts and Mrs. Jack Roth are alike as two peas in a pod and have been all their lives, for they are twins.

They have grown up together from childhood and have become accustomed to doing the same thing at the same time. They even courted together and were married at practically the same time a year ago. Both entered the Bronx hospital together a few days ago. Yesterday they gave birth to babies at the same time. The babies both weighed eight and a half pounds. The only difference being that baby De Roberts is a girl and baby Roth is a boy. Today both mothers were "very well" and happy.

Local druggists this week are cooperating in the nation-wide observance of Pharmacy Week.

Many of the stores have arranged attractive window displays and are employing other publicity features to direct attention to the pharmacy business. The purpose of the observance is to place the profession on a higher standing.

MRS. REMY KREMER AND LITTLE DAUGHTER HAPPY AS "DADDY" PITCHES BUCS TO THIRD VICTORY

By KATHARINE BRUSH.
Special to The Review-Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The evil that men do lives after them. So does the evil other men think they do, whether or not they actually did it. Ask Sam Rice, of the Senators. He knows. He found out during yesterday's world's series game, when Pirate rooters many thousand strong showed what they thought of the catch he made, not wisely but too well, in the game Saturday at Washington, by according him something the sort of reception the kaiser might have been given to Belgium once upon a time.

In my career I have seen many people get what is generally known as the razz. I've seen amateur actors hooked off the stage, and bottles hurled at umpires, and once I saw a politician get hit with a tomato that had lived to a ripe old age. But never have I seen anyone so thoroughly and painstakingly derided as was Mr. Rice at Forbes Field yesterday. The crowd didn't throw things at him. They did worse. The universal boo that arose from the stands whenever he came up to bat sounded like a winter wind blowing through a million pine trees. The roar of approval that greeted every single strike called on him made the head rock and the ears hum. Every time the umpire signified that Kremer had pitched him a ball, the crowd hurled invective upon the umpire, charging lack of judgment, astigmatism, insanity and what-ever-you. And the ecstacy evinced by all hands whenever Rice struck out or was put out on base was second only to the excitement caused by Eddie Moore's four-bagger. Taking it all in all, Rice put in rather a bad day.

How Did Rice Feel?

I have an insatiable curiosity about ball players at ball games. Let any one of them get in any predicament or achieve any conspicuous glory, and I am so obsessed with wondering what's going on in their minds that I often miss the next few plays entirely. The sad plight of the Washington center fielder particularly intrigued me. When he walked to the plate with the howl of approbrium in his ears, how did he feel? Was he smarting with the injustice of the Pittsburgh attitude? Or was he angry, with the violent anger of the wrong-doer whose wrong is found out? The answer to this is the answer to the moot question of whether or not Rice actually made the catch. And that will never be definitely known by anyone except Rice and the boy in the bleachers from whom he either did or did not grab the ball.

I'm a little more sure of what Kremer of the Pirates was thinking when he pitched his team to victory, because I talked to him about it less than an hour after the game was over. "I've been playing baseball for 12 years," he told me simply, "and it's always been my highest ambition to pitch a world series game—and win. Now I've done it, and I'm probably the happiest fellow you ever saw."

He looked happy. I found him sitting in a room at the Hotel Schenley occupied by Mr. and

Cyrena Van and Jacques Gordon in Joint Recital Will Open 1925-26 Season on Monday, Oct. 19.

Season tickets for the 1925-26 series of recitals to be given under auspices of the Civic Music association will open at the box office of the Ceramic theater at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The series of concerts will open at the theater next Monday when Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Jacques Gordon will offer a joint recital.

Miss Van Gordon is recognized as one of the youngest grand opera stars of the day and is among the most popular concert singers. Twelve years ago when Cleofante Campanini was director of the Chicago Opera company, he heard Miss Van Gordon sing in a religious pageant in Cincinnati. So impressed was he with her voice and dramatic powers that he immediately offered her the contralto role with the Chicago organization. Her debut with the organization was made in 1913, when, at the age of 20, she sang the role of Amneris in "Aida."

Miss Van Gordon's greatest opportunity came when, under Mary Garden's directorship, the Chicago Opera company, she was given the role of Brunnhilde in the "The Valkyrie."

The East Liverpool concerts will be open only to members of the Civic Music association.

MRS. REMY KREMER AND LITTLE DAUGHTER HAPPY AS "DADDY" PITCHES BUCS TO THIRD VICTORY

By KATHARINE BRUSH.
Special to The Review-Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The evil that men do lives after them. So does the evil other men think they do, whether or not they actually did it. Ask Sam Rice, of the Senators. He knows. He found out during yesterday's world's series game, when Pirate rooters many thousand strong showed what they thought of the catch he made, not wisely but too well, in the game Saturday at Washington, by according him something the sort of reception the kaiser might have been given to Belgium once upon a time.

In my career I have seen many people get what is generally known as the razz. I've seen amateur actors hooked off the stage, and bottles hurled at umpires, and once I saw a politician get hit with a tomato that had lived to a ripe old age. But never have I seen anyone so thoroughly and painstakingly derided as was Mr. Rice at Forbes Field yesterday. The crowd didn't throw things at him. They did worse. The universal boo that arose from the stands whenever he came up to bat sounded like a winter wind blowing through a million pine trees. The roar of approval that greeted every single strike called on him made the head rock and the ears hum. Every time the umpire signified that Kremer had pitched him a ball, the crowd hurled invective upon the umpire, charging lack of judgment, astigmatism, insanity and what-ever-you. And the ecstacy evinced by all hands whenever Rice struck out or was put out on base was second only to the excitement caused by Eddie Moore's four-bagger. Taking it all in all, Rice put in rather a bad day.

How Did Rice Feel?

I have an insatiable curiosity about ball players at ball games. Let any one of them get in any predicament or achieve any conspicuous glory, and I am so obsessed with wondering what's going on in their minds that I often miss the next few plays entirely. The sad plight of the Washington center fielder particularly intrigued me. When he walked to the plate with the howl of approbrium in his ears, how did he feel? Was he smarting with the injustice of the Pittsburgh attitude? Or was he angry, with the violent anger of the wrong-doer whose wrong is found out? The answer to this is the answer to the moot question of whether or not Rice actually made the catch. And that will never be definitely known by anyone except Rice and the boy in the bleachers from whom he either did or did not grab the ball.

I'm a little more sure of what Kremer of the Pirates was thinking when he pitched his team to victory, because I talked to him about it less than an hour after the game was over. "I've been playing baseball for 12 years," he told me simply, "and it's always been my highest ambition to pitch a world series game—and win. Now I've done it, and I'm probably the happiest fellow you ever saw."

He looked happy. I found him sitting in a room at the Hotel Schenley occupied by Mr. and

MEMBERS OF 80 TRIBES ATTEND INDIAN SCHOOL

Haskell Institute May Safely Lay Claim to Being 100 Per Cent American.

Lawrence, Kan.—Haskell institute may set down its claim to honor as "100 per cent American." For only true Americans may enter here.

The largest of the government's Indian schools, already opened for its fall term, Haskell institute last winter drew 1,040 American Indian girls and boys from nearly eighty tribes. From Key West to Ketchikan they came, and from Yakima to Yonkers.

Oklahoma's delegation numbered 333, almost one-third of the student enrollment. Yet her neighbor state to the south, Texas, had but one representative in the student body. Kansas was second in numbers with 104, and South Dakota next with 103. Alaska was represented by a single student of the Eyak tribe.

Outnumbering any single Indian tribe are the Sioux, whose 119 members here came from five middle-western states. Cherokees and Potawatomies made up the third largest tribal delegation.

The Chippewas came from the greatest area. They had roved the continent. Then there are Apache and Mojave, Navajo and Papago, Hopi and Piute from the Southwest; Bannock and Nez Perce, Flathead and Shoshone from the Northwest; Kickapoo and Sac and Fox, Chippewa and Ottawa, Wyandotte and Winnebago from the Middle West, and from Oklahoma and the South came Chickasaw and Choctaw, Creek and Cherokee.

Don't forget PIMPLES are caused by blood impurities

WHEN your system is lacking in rich, red blood, it is too weak to purify itself. So, impurities break out through the skin. Pimples, blackheads, rashes, boils or eczema are the result.

And the common sense thing to do is to build back your blood to where it is so rich and red and pure that the impurities can't live. More red cells are what you need—and then you just watch your skin clear up.

Now the greatest aid for building red-blood-cells the world has ever known is S. S. S. Everybody knows that S. S. S. has proved it for generations. You can't get away from it. S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells by the millions—simply fills your system full of rich, red, pure blood.

Your skin clears right up, soft and beautiful—firm, plump flesh rounds out your figure—your eyes sparkle and there's a spring in your step.

And how good you feel after S. S. S. has put your blood in order. You enjoy eating—you sleep fine—you get up in the morning feeling fresh and fit—simply brimful of new life and energy.

Don't ever forget that pimples and skin blemishes are caused by blood impurities. And don't ever forget that these impurities can't live in the rich, red, pure blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build. That's simple—isn't it? Well, why go on and be annoyed with unsightly skin eruptions that destroy your natural beauty and make you lose confidence in your own powers? Don't do it! Take S. S. S. and get rid of these ugly things. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Fewer Farmers

Fifty years ago, an inquirer finds, there were 77,000 farmers and 75,000 farm laborers for every million people in the United States. Today there are only 57,000 farmers and 37,500 farm laborers for every million people.

Is the nation starving? It is not. There is plenty of food produced. Crop prices show that, and experts show it.

The plain fact is that it takes only about half as many people to raise food for a given population as it took half a century ago. Farm machinery and better farming methods have made that possible.

Thus half the farm workers are set free for industrial work. And it is industrial work added to farming that sets society ahead. Food keeps people alive. With that little duty attended to, industry gives them a chance to provide themselves with comforts of all kinds, and accumulate wealth—which is frozen comfort, to be used when wanted.

Sky Flivvers Soon

It was a disappointment to the public when Henry Ford placed on the market large, expensive airplanes, far beyond the reach of the ordinary buyer. His interest in the aviation industry was appreciated, but he was naturally expected to direct his efforts toward the production of a small, inexpensive, serviceable aircraft that adventurous persons of moderate means could afford. Ford precedent and policy suggested that, and the times demanded it.

Now Mr. Ford hastens to allay this disappointment. He explains that his airplane factory is actually working on a genuine air flivver, with standardized and interchangeable parts, after the fashion of his land craft, and that it will soon be offered to the public in any quantity desired.

This is more like it! There will be an air Lincoln and an air flivver, and the great American democracy can take its choice; and everybody is entitled to one guess as to which it will take.

So we shall soon be skittering about the heavens tooting our little Gabriel trumpets and bumping into each other's wings as we now bump each other's fenders. May the wings prove more sturdy than the fenders! And may there be no stalling of engines as we climb over obstructing clouds;

Trees For Farms

Tree planting in the prairie regions of Canada is progressing rapidly. For six consecutive seasons now a tree-planting car has been sent out by the Canadian Forestry association for the purpose of teaching the doctrine of tree-growing and tree-usefulness to settlers. A representative of the forestry association, recently returned to Ottawa from the season's trip on the tree-planting car, says:

"In more than 7,000 miles of travel this year, we have yet to encounter a single farmer who has migrated from a well-treed farm. The secret of stabilized population on the prairies is closely identified with tree-planting, even in excessively dry districts where migration was severe. The farmer with shelter belts of trees managed to make a better living and certainly had no thought of quitting."

As a result of this work, it was reported, 80,000,000 trees have been planted by 45,000 farmers. The early belief that trees could not be grown on the prairies has been dissipated by the splendid results already obtained. Protecting the soil, conserving the water supply, sheltering the homes from winter blasts, beginning the development of a future fuel and lumber supply, and adding beauty and loveliness to the prairie homestead, the tree-planting work goes forward. There's a lesson here for local farm communities that still cut out their woods without reforesting.

Booze-Soaked Russia

It is depressing news from Russia these latter days. With the liquor bars down again, an alcoholic flood pours over the land. The Russian people are drinking vodka, 40 per cent stuff, at the rate of a million quarts a day. They drink it at home and they drink it in the dispensaries and on the streets. The vodka lines are said to be longer than the bread lines were in the time of famine.

The saddest thing about this is that the Moscow government doubtless realizes what it is doing. It is making "a contented people."

A sober nation would have developed a clear brain and saved itself. A nation soaked in alcohol may be stupidly contented with Bolshevism.

The French complain that the Germans still have goose-step parades. From this distance, that looks like a very good substitute for marching on Paris.

David Belasco says the most important thing in life is a good memory. And yet it might be a good thing for Belasco if people would forget one or two of his recent plays.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Waiters in so called "quick and dirty" little restaurants have for years fashioned their own language. "One eyewash" is a grapefruit. "One in the dark" is coffee without cream. "Sunnyside ups" are eggs friend on one side. And so on.

These little holes-in-the-wall feed more than two-thirds of New York's luncheon population. Every large and important hotel has its bevy of them nearby where patrons go, returning later to their hotel lobbies to wield toothpicks.

One big hotel has three cafeterias in its building. The management evidently decided they would locate in the neighborhood so they might as well receive the rents. There is a clattering gusto about them that appeals to rushing New Yorkers. Food on the fly is the New Yorker's gastronomic pace.

There is no smouldering resentment about the waiters so often found in superior places. They are breezy, sometimes untidy, but they serve you cheerfully and with dispatch. Many of them can inquire: "What'll it be, Bo?" without seeming impertinent.

A dime tip receives a polite "Thanks" for causaul service. The most colorful of these restaurants are on the Bowery. Their menus are frosted on the windows and the floors are sprinkled with a coating of sawdust. Patrons may wear hats and leave off coats.

The quick lunches have more than quadrupled since prohibition for many of the ruddy patrons who fill them now were wont to cluster about the free lunch in the old days. Taking in both sides of the street in one block right off Broadway there are eleven.

The quick lunch clientele is not composed of so-called middle class folk by a long shot. In one on 42nd street I saw Flo Zeigfeld and his Major Domo Gene Buck, Edgar Selwyn, Ralph Barton and several others who seemed to be enjoying the paper-napkined fare.

First Edgar Saltus! Now an effort to make a literary hero of Ambrose Bierce who past 70 wandered off into Mexico and was seen no more. Bierce was not acclaimed in life because, like Saltus, he did nothing of vast importance. His fiction was sordid and stilted. He was at his best as a newspaper commentator in San Francisco. The fact he went out of his way to kill faithful dogs in the presence of their masters measures the man, I believe.

However, I believe Bierce, or it may have been Meredith Nicholson, coined the perfect similie: "As stingy as a rich Socialist." And, too, I like the "as tricky as a light in the guest's bedroom:" of Baird Leonard.

The guest room in most homes is the most uncomfortable spot about the place. Reading matter is generally confined to such volumes as The History of Iowa, How to Collect Andirons and last summer's quarterly edition of Forestry for Amateurs. There is always a creaky board in the floor and you hit it about 3 o'clock in the morning when a pin drop could be heard. Early morning noises center under the guest room window. The rooster picks this spot to proclaim to the world he has discovered the sun. My idea of the perfect host is one who sacrifices his own quarters for guests.

Paris is no doubt the most beautiful city in the world but returning travelers say its beauty is almost marred by using the Eiffel Tower for an electrical ad for the Citreon—the flivver of France. It is said a many millioned offer has been made to the Woolworth building to decorate its tower with an electrical ad. But was refused.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

How Milk May Be Used.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Milk, as scientists have said for a long time, is the most perfect food. It contains all basic food elements and if taken alone can support life for a considerable time, if not indefinitely.

But only in the last few years have the government's investigators in the Bureau of Dairying proved that in the United States every year billions of pounds of milk in various forms are being wasted; not actually wasted, but fed to cattle when it could be manufactured into by-products of great nutrient value to human beings.

The average housewife thinks of milk in its normal form, as delivered by the dairyman, and given to the children to drink, or used in cooking or baking. She does not know that the by-products which could be made from the 22 billion pounds of skim milk produced in this country annually, would provide her family with the same nourishment at must less cost.

Until a few years ago farmers thought that the skim milk and buttermilk left from creaming and butter making was good for one use only—to be fed to the pigs. Laboratory scientists now know that the formerly despised skim milk has a variety of uses ranging from milk powder to waterproof glue. And the experts in the Bureau of Dairying are still making experiment after experiment to find ways of preventing further waste of the valuable food elements in milk.

So far the greatest progress has been made in the manufacture of milk powder. From the annual production of 22 billion pounds of skim milk it would be possible to manufacture 2,272,000,000 pounds of milk powder. Comparing this possibility with the actual facts, it was found that 69,000,000 pounds of the powder were made in 1924, an almost negligible fraction. Nevertheless this was an increase over 1923 when 62,000,000 pounds were made, while in 1922 the product was only 40,000,000 pounds.

Experiments have proved that not only can skim milk powder be used for many of the same purposes as raw milk, but that in bread making and baking it is superior. It takes nine or ten pounds of milk powder for one barrel of flour for bread making and the number of loaves will exceed that made when ordinary milk is used. It has been estimated that the extra loaves possible when milk powder is used is sufficient to pay the entire cost of the powder.

As the skim milk powder contains all the elements of milk except the butter fat, for which lard is an adequate substitute, bread or cake made with the powder is as nutritious as that made with raw milk.

Where Economy Steps In.

The economy in the use of milk powder lies in the fact that it can be made in the dairying districts and transported cheaply, in many cases by water, because it keeps indefinitely. Raw milk, on the other hand must be transported expensively in refrigerator cars.

The chief difficulty that has been encountered in the utilization of skim milk through milk powder manufacture has been that farmers in outlying districts have not found it worth while to transport their product into the centers where the powder can be manufactured. The present prices of skim milk are not high enough to induce farmers to give up the old custom of feeding skim milk to the live stock. It takes four or five pounds of skim milk to produce one pound of pork or beef, when the milk is used for cattle feed.

Government experts say that until the people of the country can be brought to understand the valuable nutritive qualities of skim milk powder manufacture of the product on a large scale will not be profitable.

Another of the valuable sources of milk by-products has been found in the whey or liquid which remains after the manufacture of cheese. This liquid is generally thrown away, although it contains albumen, protein, milk sugar and minerals.

What Is In Whey.

The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process of extracting the "lacta albumen" from whey. This product is of practically the same content as the white of egg, and has the same property of foaming when beaten.

It is thought that when the new process is perfected, lacta albumen will become a cheap although equally nutritious substitute for egg white.

One of the most valuable components of whey, for which a popular use has not been found, is milk sugar. Milk sugar is important because a certain of it is absolutely necessary in the diet of every human being.

In the human intestines live millions of the microscopic organisms known as the bacillus acidophilus. Although much too tiny to be seen with the naked eye, this bacillus has an important part in maintaining human life, for it brings about the fermentation of food which is a necessary part of the digestive process.

These little bacteria themselves, however, live on milk sugar, and without it would soon die, causing digestion to cease, and endangering the life of the individual. It is because of these digestive properties of milk sugar that it is fed to infants and invalids.

Aside from the function of nourishing the bacillus, acidophilus, milk sugar has the same nutritive properties as ordinary sugar or glucose. It has not, however, the same very sweet, pleasant taste, and at the present is used mainly for medical purposes.

The Bureau of Dairying is now carrying on a series of experiments with milk sugar in the hope of finding some popular use for it, to prevent tons of this valuable food from being thrown away annually.

The whey of milk contains some protein and also the valuable mineral ash, but profitable means of extracting these products have not yet been discovered.

One use for the surplus protein in skim milk has been found in the manufacture of casein, a glutinous product valuable for making waterproof glue. Glue made from casein is used to a large extent in the construction of airplanes.

The United States consumes annually about 80,000,000 pounds of casein of which less than 20,000,000 pounds is produced domestically, while the remainder is imported from South America. About 85 per cent of this total consumption of casein is used in the manufacture of glazed paper. The high gloss on this paper is caused by china clay, but the china clay is held in place by casein.

Another of the important by-products of milk is buttermilk. The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process for condensing buttermilk in a form convenient for use in making sour doughs, and also for use as an acid feed for poultry. Milk powder is also being made from buttermilk, although in comparatively small quantities.

A mill that converts cornstalks into cattle food has been invented.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creasote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it sooths and heals the inflammed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking — Take Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know that he was playing her accompaniment without touching the keys!

The Gulbransen Registering Piano

Is Here in Our Showrooms

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

"Banjo King's" Band Will Play for Dance At Myers Lake Park

For three nights commencing Thursday, Moonlight ballroom, Myers Lake, will feature Eddie Peabody, "The Banjo King," and his band of 10 pieces.

Peabody has surrounded himself with a group of extraordinary musicians, practically all college graduates and six of them are solo players for recording companies.

During an engagement regular hours are set each day for rehearsal, at which time the band works diligently to perfect new arrangements and tunes. Peabody, himself, who will be with the band, comes from a musical family. At the age of 16 he ran away from home, changing his name to Eddie Wright. He was a hit on the Keith circuit where he traveled under the name of "The Foolish Fiddler."

During the summer Peabody has been the featured artist at WTAM and early in August he enjoyed the distinction of playing for 20 minutes at WEAF, New York, immediately preceding President Coolidge's address. He is also an accomplished violinist. During his engagement at Moonlight Ballroom he will entertain each night with bajo solos.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Stocks of the independent oil companies, under the lead of Marland, Pan-American and Mid-Continent, pushed to the front in extremely active trading in the first hour today. A number of new high record prices for the movement were hung up, though price gains rarely exceeded 1½ points. The motor and industrial stocks opened slightly higher, but stocks were supplied quite freely, and the market as a whole was irregular in this period. Stocks of the gas companies, including Consolidated and Brooklyn Union Gas, moved up fractionally in active trading, and textile stocks also displayed a firm tone. International Nickle featured the metal stocks, with a gain of 2 points.

The money market was steady, and call rates softened fractionally to 5 per cent.

Selling pressure was more pronounced in the second hour, with offerings of high priced industrial and motor stocks at concessions of a point or more. American Can moved against the trend of the market, and hose about 5 points. Baltimore and Ohio was a good leader in the railroad stocks. The Fair led the activity in the mercantile stocks and sold nearly 2 points higher.

a stretcher and lifted him into the electric chair, where he was soon paralyzed, from the head down.

When he wakes up, as he probably believed that he would do, in a better, happier world, he will have an interesting story to tell about this earth and how it does things.

It is said New York bankers have refused a $100,000,000 private loan to France, although all details of the loan were arranged, the bankers acting under government orders or suggestion.

Government ability to control private loans constitutes a powerful weapon these days.

Lady Cynthia Moseley discovers that the Labor party includes "cultured individuals" and "really intelligent, delightful people." The "upper classes" would make many interesting discoveries, if they could go up a little higher in the social scale and investigate those that do the work.

They would even find, to their surprise, that many of the upper classes descend from the laboring class.

Be careful about little things. Sigmund Breitbart, called the strongest man in Germany, bent iron bars with his hands, tore horseshoes apart, held two horses pulling against each other. He scratched himself with his nail, blood poison developed, he's dead. The germs too small to be seen with a microscope are stronger than any man. Such germs are usually on our hands.

Extreme radicals among French workers organize a 24 hour strike, the protest of the proletariat against the war in Morocco.

French workmen, however, possess a knowledge of public affairs and of history, something lacking in this country.

It doesn't take a great deal of knowledge to realize that any class, proletarian or capitalistic, that fails to support its nation in war, will regret his foolishness.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER COMING

Joseph W. Irwin Will Arrive Here at Noon Saturday.

Joseph William Irwin, III, said to be a direct descendant of one of the original pony express riders, who carried mail in the West before the Civil war, will arrive here at noon Saturday on his 600-mile journey through eastern and northern Ohio, in pony express style.

Irwin, who is a member of the Black Horse Troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohio National Guard, left Cleveland last week on his journey which will require a little more than two weeks. The entire trip will be made on horseback and the rider will carry letters from mayors, postmasters and newspaper editors in cities and towns through which he passes.

The rider is attired in typical pony express costume and is said to have received enthusiastic receptions in every town he has visited. At the end of the trip he will compare the time consumed with the more modern means of mail delivery, via train, airplane and motor truck. Among the towns he will visit on the trip are Salem, Lisbon, Canton, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Youngstown, Warren and Ravenna.

Girl Weds Three Times, But Fails To Get Divorce

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Three husbands within a year—without divorcing any of them.

This was the charge against pretty, bobbed-haired Virginia Gorham, 21-year-old telephone girl, today, awaiting arraignment on the complaint of Harry Rosenberg, who says he is husband No. 3.

MISS RUTH GRUBB IS AUTO VICTIM

Miss Ruth Grubb, 20, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Grubb, formerly of East Liverpool, is in the Lakeside hospital at Cleveland, in a serious condition today as the result of injuries sustained when run down by an automobile.

Miss Grubb was standing on a street corner waiting for a trolley car when a machine hurtled the curb and struck her.

Gen. Sherwood, 90, Restless, But Shows Slight Improvement

TOLEDO, Oct. 14.—Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, 90-year-old Civil war veteran and statesman, who is lying critically ill at his home, suffering from pernicious anemia, was reported to have spent another restless night, but showed a slight improvement this morning.

Physicians, however, still maintain, that he is in a hopeless condition.

James Sherwood, the general's only son, also is seriously ill at his home in Ravenna, and is unable to be at the bedside of his father.

Protestant Episcopal House of Bishops to Name Primate

Endorse Court of International Justice and Oppose Remarriage of Divorced Persons.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church today was to elect a presiding bishop to serve for six years as the first primate elected by the church. The election will be subject to ratification by the house of deputies.

The voting will be principally on the names of eight prelates nominated at an executive session of the bishops but voting is not limited to those nominated. The bishops nominated for the primacy are Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, bishop of western New York; Right Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, bishop of Tennessee; Right Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of Maryland; Right Rev. Edward L. Parsons, bishop of California; Right Rev. William Cabell Brown, bishop of Virginia; Right Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of Pittsburgh; Right Rev. James Dewolf Perry, bishop of Rhode Island, and Right Rev. Hugh Latimer, missionary bishop of North Dakota.

Among delegates there was much discussion today of the possibilities of a deadlock between the forces supporting the principals, notably Bishops Gailor and Brent.

Endorsement of the permanent court of international justice, an unfavorable report by the committee on canons on a resolution which would have given bishops the sole authority to authorize the marriage of divorced persons, receiving for consideration a memorial protesting against the remarriage of any divorced persons and extended debates on alterations to the prayer book featured yesterday's sessions of the house of deputies.

Bettis Now Ace of U. S. Airmen

Army and navy aviators now salute Lieut. Cyrus J. Bettis (above), army, as premier U. S. pilot. He shattered three racing records in the Pulitzer international trophy race at Mitchell Field, L. I., and knocked Lieut. Al Williams of navy, idol of other meets, loose from all his laurels save those of speed champion.

Mrs. Kremer Happy

Mrs. Joe Devine, beaming upon all and sundry. Devine is one of the Pittsburgh scouts, the one who discovered Kremer and brought him into the Pirate fold, and therefore a gentleman who has a right to be pleased on his own account.

Nervous After Game.

Mrs. Kremer, an attractive young woman in a stunning costume of black and pansy, with a black hat, was also present, as was lovely little Betty Kremer, the pitcher's eight-year-old daughter. "What do you think of your daddy?" I asked this gray eyed miss, and her answer, "I think he's fine!" was delivered in a manner that left no doubt about it whatsoever.

I begged Kremer to tell how he felt during that crucial moment in the ninth inning when Pittsburgh's one-run lead was threatened by the appearance at the plate of Messrs. Goslin, Joe Harris and Judge in rapid succession. Goslin and Joe Harris, as all the world knows, have made three home runs each during this series. Judge has made one. You'll have to agree that the combination looked extremely formidable and perilous, and might have frightened a less doughty moundsman almost out of his spiked shoes. But Kremer says he was not frightened. Not until later. "After the game," he said, smiling, "I was so nervous I couldn't even autograph the balls they brought into the club house. But at the time I was feeling fairly cool." In other words—words less grammatical but more expressive — Mr. Kremer "seen his duty and he done it."

This was his first world series, incidentally. And since it's going to be the thing hereafter to know all about him, I might add that he was born 29 years ago in Oakland, California, where he still lives; that he is of French extraction, as his first name, Remy, suggests, and that he is now playing his second year of ball for Pittsburgh. I'd like to bet that it won't be his last, but who in the world would bet with me?

No story dealing with the sixth game of the 1925 series can omit mention of Eddie Moore, the Pirate second baseman, who made the never-to-be-forgotten home run in the fifth. So I'm going to tell you a little anecdote that was told to me by one of the numerous newspaper correspondents. This man, passing the Pittsburgh dugout before the game, saw Eddie Moore with actual tears in his eyes. He said he had hurt his hand.

"Does it hurt that bad?" asked the correspondent.

Eddie registered scorn. "I'm not bawling because it hurts!" he said emphatically. "I'm just afraid I'm not going to be able to hit."

Donahue Jewels Valued at $450,000, Returned to Police

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Donahue jewels have been returned but the mystery of this great gem theft remained more baffling than ever today.

The $450,000 string of rose-tinted pearls, once owned by the royal household of Persia, and other jewels stolen from the dressing table of Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late F. W. Woolworth, are now under lock and key in police headquarters. While the city detective force was endeavoring to trace the $683,000 worth of gems, an insurance company detective walked into headquarters and delivered up the gems which disappeared on September 30 while Mrs. Donahue was bathing in her apartment at the Plaza hotel.

The jewels are back but the search for the thieves goes on according to the police.

U. S. Will Wield Credit Club to Get Debt From Europe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The American government has decided finally to use the big club of international credit to bring its quibbling debtors to the treasury window to take up their notes.

This, in effect, is what lay behind the blunt warning that has gone out from the White House to the world in general, and to Paris in particular, that American purse strings are to be closed to those nations that are evading and denying their plain obligations to the United States.

Cleveland Combed For Alleged Slayer Of Federal Agent

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Cleveland police combed the city today for Martin J. Durkin, alleged murderer of Edward C. Shanahan, Chicago federal agent, who was shot and killed Sunday when he attempted to arrest Durkin for of an automobile, it was said.

Chicago detectives, searching the sand dune country of Indiana with tear bombs and rifles, said they believe the fugitive boarded a train for Cleveland.

Cleveland police were warned that the man is dangerous and heavily armed.

U. S. Senator Ralston Unconscious; May Die Before Night

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana may not live through the day, it became known this morning.

His condition, already precarious, became alarmingly critical over night.

"Senator Ralston has been unconscious since midnight and his condition is very grave indeed,' said Frederick Van Nuys, one of Ralston's law partners here.

Ralston is 68 years old.

Woman is Found Walking Streets in Her Pink Pajamas

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Police here today were trying to establish the identity of a pretty young, auburn-haired woman, about 25, who was picked up this morning as she walked about Cleveland streets in her pink silk pajamas.

A daze bothering her brain, she told wild and sundry stories today about her many escapes from as many hospitals, and that she was married and also single. Police believe she was on her honeymoon and lost her money.

She said her name was Mary Cunningham of 14 Spring street, Erie, Pa., and in the next breath said her name was Dorothy Grady of High avenue, Erie. She also told stories about being struck by a street car, and taken to a hospital from which she said she escaped.

The girl was barefooted.

Four Youths Hurt When Autos Crash; Driver is Arrested

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—A car which was said to have been driven on the wrong side of the street, struck and overturned another car here today, seriously injuring four young men. The injured are: Elmer Kaiser, 20; Chester Johnson, 19; Harry Dubber, 16, and William Bohley, 23. Herman Vacha, driver of the other machine, is held on a charge of reckless driving.

WIN NEXT WAR IN AIR—SIMS

Rear Admiral Warns National Defense is Suffering.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The next great world war will be won through "command of the air," Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, at one time a storm center of naval controversies, told the president's air board today.

Sims warned that America's national defense was suffering because of the loss of morale in the air services.

The navy, Sims charged, has no "air policy." He also declared the recent inquiry held by the navy department to determine the value of aviation was an "investigation in a circle."

"The secretary of the navy came back from a speaking tour in the west and appointed a board to make the investigation," Sims said.

"On that same day he announced a battleship was the backbone of the fleet. The general board met and reported that the battleship is the backbone of the fleet. That investigation could get no where and it did not."

Sims declared that the navy department was "violating every fundamental principle of military command" in its treatment of aviation. As a result, he added, the morale of the air service has been destroyed.

LEON RUBIN'S

Newly Remodeled Jewelry Store

For

Thursday, Oct. 15

Seven to Nine P. M.

The Opening of Leon Rubin's newly remodeled Jewelry Store completes another chapter in his forward march to supremacy. It marks the climax of 15 years of square dealing and earnest endeavor to serve customers as they should be served. The new store, with it's greatly increased floor space and up-to-the-minute furnishings, now makes it possible for Mr. Rubin to give that efficient and satisfactory service to his patrons tha he had long anticipated but never before been able to accomplish.

The newly remodeled store is a credit to not only Mr. Rubn, the owner, but to East Liverpool as well. It is most complete in its appointments, attractive in appearance, conveniently arranged, one of the most beautiful stores of its kind in the State of Ohio, and displaying the largest and most complete stocks of any jewelry store in this vicinity.

You Are Invited

Mr. Rubin is quite proud of his new home and its complete new stocks of reliable Jewelry, Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Silverware, etc., and extends to everyone in East Liverpool and vicinity a most hearty invitation to join with him in the Opening Tomorrow (Thursday) Evening, between the hours of seven and nine. He promises that nothing will be left undone to make your visit a most pleasant one.

HALLMARK STORE

Membership in the Hallmark Association of one Jeweler in over 800 cities gives this store a wonderful buying prestige and purchasing advantage in the finer jewelry markets of the country. This is reflected to you in fair prices on better quality jewelry. In fact, a Hallmark membership means to a store the same as Sterling means to silver.

The Creed Mr. Rubin Has Followed—And to Success

He believes that the existence of any institution, ranging anywhere from the largest public welfare to the smallest retail store, must necessarily depend upon the support and good will of those for whom it functions. It is, therefore, not through any philanthropic or sentimental motive but rather through a sane and sound business policy that the efforts of Mr. Rubin have been directed towards the establishment of the most favorable and friendly relations between himself and his patrons. This he has accomplished in the following manner:

1.—By a prompt and cheerful righting of all wrongs in the way of exchanging any article which has been found unsatisfactory, thus standing firmly behind every article which leaves his store.

2.—By setting one unchangeable price, and by clearly marking every article with that price, he has established a system of fair treatment to all.

That Mr. Rubin's Merchandise is of the Reliable Kind—Is Proven by the Well-Known Standard Makes He Features—Namely—

INJURED YOUTH WILL RECOVER

Fogo's Skull Not Fractured, X-Ray Shows.

Paul Fogo, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fogo, of Broadway, this morning was said to be recovering from injuries he sustained yesterday at the C. & P. shops here when he was struck on the right side of his head by an eight-pound sledge.

An X-ray of the injury, according to relatives, revealed the fact that his skull was not fractured. His right ear, however, was badly lacerated, and, it is thought, may have really prevented a fracture.

Young Fogo, who is an electric welder, was working on an engine, it is said, near a group of other employes who were driving a flue. One of the men was wielding a sledge. On a swing of the big hammer the head flew off and struck Fogo. Another employe grasped the injured man and saved him from a fall from the locomotive.

Pair Unable to Say Farewell Before Death

Budapest, Hungary.—With five minutes to say good-by before their death, allowed by the court, Mitzi Lederer and her husband, Gustav, a former lieutenant, choking with anguish and blinded by tears, were unable to say a single word. They had been convicted of the murder and dismemberment of the owner of a sausage factory, Frank Kudelka, who was visiting the couple in a suburb of Budapest. The two embraced in a final meeting while the presiding judge held a watch. "You have five minutes," he said. "Four—three—two—one, and now no more time to bid each other good-by." The man and wife were parted and immediately executed.

BLOSSOM TIME COMING HERE

Schubert Operetta is Booked by Ceramic.

The Schubert operetta, "Blossom Time," based on the life of Franz Schubert, with Schubert's own music, which the Messrs. Shubert will present in this city in the near future, has the distinction of holding the long run record for musical plays in every city in which it has been presented.

Starting with New York, where "Blossom Time" was originally presented, it ran for more than two years, with an extra engagement of several months when the New York and Chicago companies were brought back to New York for simultaneous engagements at the Shubert and Forty-fourth street theaters. In Chicago, where "Blossom Time" established its second record, it ran for 66 weeks. Philadelphia audiences paid homage to Schubert's music for a period of 37 weeks, while audiences in Boston crowded the theater where "Blossom Time" was running for another 20 weeks.

In other cities which are regularly regarded as one week stands, "Blossom Time" played for two and even three weeks without any pronounced decline in attendance and in many of these instances the famous romance of youth and love was returned at later dates for further engagements.

"Blossom Time's" farewell engagement will be at the Ceramic theater Wednesday night, October 21.

Wheat Replaces Rice As Staple Food Both In China and Japan

TORONTO — After thousands of years spent in wielding the chopsticks, John Chinamen and the Japanese are losing their taste for rice and are now competing with other countries for the world's supply of wheat, according to wheat brokers.

Millions of tons are shipped to the Orient annually from Canada nowadays, and this is reflected in the fact that flour mills and wheat elevators are springing up all along the Pacific coast and Canada.

"The revolution in taste of the Orient is one of the most remarkable facts of the changing modern world," said a leading wheat authority. "Today the Oriental prefers wheat to rice."

"The following figures will confirm this. In 1924 China took 5,206,820 bushels of wheat and 504,923 barrels of flour, while Japan took 7,058,910 bushels of wheat and 111,965 barrels of flour. Compare this with 1914. In that year Canada's export of wheat to China was nil. In 1910 Canada exported exactly eight bushels of flour to Japan."

During a nine-week season of English opera in London this year 180,000 people attended the performances.

BACK OF A GOOD NAME

Rarely in manufacturing history has a name entrenched itself so firmly in the confidence of the entire world as the name Dodge Brothers.

Everywhere and to everyone this name means but one thing: a product built honestly of the best available materials and sold at a just price.

Behind this product, this price and this enviable reputation lie certain impressive and fundamental facts.

So important is a knowledge of these facts to the motor car buyer that Dodge Brothers, Inc., have determined to publish them, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth. A few of these essentials, outlined above, go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

McKechnie and Harris Today Face Crisis Clash In Series

"Big Money" Pitchers Will be Called Upon to Hurl "Big Money" Game, Says Walsh, Who Avers "Nickle Pitchers" Won't do Now; Oldham, Morrison and Ruether Mentioned as Other Possibilities.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—On the verge of a vast hysteria such as few towns have known, except as an aftermath of great good fortune or a great tragedy, Pittsburgh arose from a restless cot this morning to face the world series crisis. Paris, for instannce, knew the same symptoms after the armistice and Johnstown after the flood, but Pittsburgh was getting hers before the seventh and show down down game of the 1925 world series between the Senators and the Pirates and her symptoms were those of unease, not of certainty.

It was to be the big money game of the event and according to the best advices a couple of big money pitchers, Walter Johnson and Vic Aldridge, were to pitch it.

The day of the showdown found the sky overcast and the rival managers down to nickel pitchers were only million dollar men would do. It made not the slightest difference that both of the latter had been pitched flat footed in winning two games each. Aldridge was under the gun with a single day's rest, while Johnson was limping from a torn muscle in his thigh, but the hottest kind of a tip was that they once more would carry the banner regardless.

You don't use a nickel pitcher when $2,000, the difference between the winners 'and losers' share, rides on every ball and a populace has lost all sense of control. You use your million dollars worth cheerfully, even though some of it has been squandered when the series was adolescent, spent indeed when the series was quite young, for youth must have its fling.

There are other possibilities mentioned, to wit: Oldham and Morrison, of Pittsburgh, and Dutch Ruether, of Washington, but neither of the former were physical millionaires, so to speak, and the writer's understanding of Ruether was that he has yet to pitch a single ball in the series and probably would do slightly less than that today.

Granting this to be true, there were none left but the two great right handers and their meeting would mean that the ultimate survivor would equal the record held jointly by Mathewson, Babe Adams, Jack Coombs and Coveleskie, by winning three games in a world series.

Pittsburgh favored Aldridge and perforce, the Pirates at odds of 6 to 5, in spite of the fact that Vic was out from under the blankets no later than 48 hours ago, but Pittsburgh can do no less.

It had seen its ball club enact a modern miracle between sunrise on Monday and senset on Tuesday. It had seen the Pirates fight back to a 3 to 3 deadlock and the chance of a young lifetime from a position in which all hope had fled.

On Monday morning, the Senators needed only a single victory to come into their second title. They haven't got it yet.

Pittsburgh, therefore, might be pardoned what some might term a lack of civic dignity today. There was nothing to condone, as a matter of fact. The town simply left out one wild, piercing scream as the final man was retired yesterday, leaped high into the air and forgot to come down.

Long lines, gibbering at one another and at no one in particular, formed at the club box offices in something comparative only to the split second, and in less than 5½ hours, some 35,000 tickets had been sold. The rest of the populace, still muttering in its beard, prattled off into the night and was at it when the dawn of another day came.

Newsboys were shouting the glad tidings in the darkness of very early morning and snatches of ribald song filled the air. There have been only two towns that have known such hysteria over a world series and one of them is known as Pittsburgh, Pa. The other was Washington, D. C., on the night of the final game last year.

Both are entitled to it. Both didn't care whether they were or not. They first made sure they were right and then went ahead. And, if the Pirates win today, Pittsburgh will do more than go ahead. It will go amuck.

Perhaps some of its citizens are thumbing back through the pages of time to 1903 and taking a mental look at the skeleton in their family closet. If so, their anticipation of what the afternoon may bring will be all the more intense.

It was in 1903 that the old Pirates of Hans Wagner blasted their way into a world series with the Boston Red Sox and won three of the first four games, just as Washington did in the present series. But the Red Sox came back, won three straight, took the series and caused great loss of life here, officials dragging the Allegheny river for days in a futile search for men who had simply rushed into the solitude of the open country to be alone with their grief.

It would be passing sweet to the local palate if the 1925 Pirates could do to the Senators what the Red Sox did to the old favorites in 1903.

EVENS BATTLE COUNT

'Covey' Wins Title of Greatest Hard-Luck Pitcher In Baseball

Failure of Stanley Coveleskie to turn in at least two victories for the Washington club in the world's series must be disappointing to Coveleskie, of course. It is equally as disappointing to those who have followed Covey through his major league career.

And yet they rather expected such discouraging results.

For Coveleskie's baseball life has been replete with such "hard luck" games. But one period stands out in his career to cheer him up. That was the world's series of 1920, when he stepped to the mound three times against the Brooklyn Dodgers and three times turned them back helpless as bush leaguers against his baffling spitball.

But day in and day out, while pitching the best part of his baseball life for Cleveland, Coveleskie worked against a hoodoo.

The team would go on a hitting rampage for days. Would give any pitcher who happened to work a margin of from two to half a dozen runs on which to rest. Then would come Covey's day on the mound.

For some unknown reason the team's leading sluggers would develop a sudden case of buck fever, stage fright, paralysis or something like that, and proceed to hit about the size of the ordinary lunch counter check.

Covey would pitch his heart out, only to find himself beaten because his own teammates could give him no more than one or two little runs.

So it was in the second game of the world's series. It was a typical Covey game. Ed Bang, Cleveland sport authority and one of Covey's staunchest admirers, remarked as the game started: "If this is one of his usual hard luck games you can figure on the Pirates to win. Covey will pitch good ball, but it won't mean anything."

True enough.

Then came his second start against the Pirates. He was hammered in that second start. But had he come through that first game with the victory he deserved he would have had a stauncher heart.

Covey will go down in history first, as one of the greatest pitchers in the game.

Second, as one of the greatest spitball artists.

Third, as one of the few immortals to win three games in a world's series.

CANTON - AKRON CLASH SUNDAY

Hogan, Ex-Toronto Star, Signs Bulldog Contract.

CANTON, Oct. 14.—After suffering two defeats in two days the Canton Bulldogs return to their home field this Sunday to tackle the Akron Professionals, who are tied with Detroit for the leadership of the National Professional Football league.

Canton tried the difficult feat of playing two games in two days, but they were beaten both times. Philadelphia Yellow Jackets administered the first setback last Saturday by a 12-7 score, while the next day Pottsville, Pa., beat the Kennel 28-0, the worst setback that the Bulldogs have suffered in many seasons.

As a result of the two games the Dogs are all crippled up. Harry Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs, while Pete Henry has a deep cut over his left eye, three stitches being necessary. Culver and Robb had to be carried from last Sunday's game exhausted.

Several new players will probably be added to the Bulldog roster in time for Sunday's engagement. Paul Hogan, former Washington and Jefferson and Detroit U. star, accompanied the Bulldogs on their eastern journey and signed a Canton contract on his return here. He was a member of the Akron team in 1924.

World's Series Home Run Record Broken

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The world series home run record was broken yesterday when Moore and Goslin hit four sackers, the previous record having been 10, being set by the Yankees and Giants in 1923.

The record for this series is:

First game—Joe Harris, Traynor.

Second game — Judge, Wright, Cuyler.

Third game—Goslin.

Fourth game—Goslin, Joe Harris.

Fifth game—Joe Harris.

Sixth game—Goslin, Moore.

Last Night's Fights

At Pittsburgh—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh, defeated Tony Marullo, New Orleans, ten rounds. Jack Barry, Pittsburgh, defeated Mike Fedor, Pittsburgh, eight rounds.

The fans tendered Sam Rice the Bronx cheer every time he showed his head above the level of the dugout. Mr. Rice, you know, caught that ball that was caught or wasn't caught in the third game at Washington and the boys here thought he ought to be chided for his slick, city ways.

FAST STRUTHERS TEAM NEXT FOE FOR HIGHS; M'KIM OUT FOR SEASON

Plucky Guard Sustains Broken Shoulder in Clash at Chester; Bough, Shaffer and Heddleston, However, are Expected to be Back in Uniform Saturday; Mahoning Countians Show Class in Early Contests.

A recapitulation of football resources by Coach O. V. Boone, mentor of the Blue and White, as the squad shapes up its forces for the important clash here Saturday with Struthers, reveals the fact that the 12-0 victory over Chester last Saturday was well paid for, inasmuch as Guard McKim, who has been rubbing shoulders in the line with Dick Larkins ever since the season started, will be lost for the remainder of the season.

McKim is out with a fractured bone in his shoulder and definitely off the Blue and White roster.

The outlook for the Struthers engagement at Patterson Field would be even more glum than that of last week, with McKim's loss, were it not for the possibility that last week's "patients," Shaffer, Heddleston and Bough, will likely be back in action Saturday. All three of these lads were out in uniform yesterday afternoon, their injuries apparently having come around all right in the week or more in which they have been resting.

Boone's forces will have to call upon their full strength for the Struthers clash—there's little doubt of that. Struthers opened up its new stadium this season with a 7-7 tie against Salem, and the Columbiana countians, by the way, are no push-overs this year. Struthers scored early in the game on a blocked kick, and Salem, in the last few minutes of play, sent Coffee around end on a 65-yard run for the touchdown that knotted the figures.

Last year Struthers, on home territory, trimmed the Blue and White by a 13-7 reckoning. The Mahoning countians, perhaps, can aptly be classed with New Philadelphia, and New Philly, it will be remembered, showed a winning brand of football here a couple of weeks ago.

This is the greatest casualty series of all time. Lee Meadows has a sore arm. So, they say, has Dutch Ruether. Stanley Harris has a sore hand. So has Eddie Moore, and there will be plenty of sore heads about just as soon as one club or the other loses the series.

They voted Peckinpaugh the most valuable player in the American league and then he turned around and became the least valuable player in the Washington ball club. Peck's shortstopping in this series has been woeful, no less.

CHICAGO CUBS WIN CITY TITLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The National league Cubs won the city championship yesterday in the presence of their new boss, Joe McCarthy, defeating the White Sox, 7 to 4.

The contest was the last for George Gibson as manager, but it marked the first city championship in three years for the Bruins. The first game of the set went 19 innings to a two-all deadlock. The Sox took but one of the six games played.

Tagging The Bases

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 14.—Perhaps the records will show that some other player-manager in a world series effaced himself for a pinch hitter but we think not. Stanley Harris is given to doing unique things and most of the time he is right.

In another instance, he was wrong. That was when he sent McNeely down to steal in the eighth when he needed a run to tie. That was being very extravagant with very little to spend. However, McNeely got away with it.

Eddie Moore's single and homer were long overdue, Edward having been in a prolonged slump. He selected an excellent moment to snap out of it.

Ferguson uncoupled the wildest pitch of this or any other series with two strikes on Wright but the latter did not molest it. All he had to do was to swing and run, if he wanted to get on base very cheaply.

Kremer had much more stuff than Ferguson but the latter managed to stick around until they erased him with a pinch hitter in the eighth.

DREYFUS READY TO SELL, REPORT

Pittsburgh Syndicate Named in Latest Rumors.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—The report that Barney Dreyfus has sold the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the National league, to a syndicate of local men was revived today as the team clashed with the Washington Senators in a contest that was to decide the 1925 world series.

Latest reports of the syndicate which is supposed to have purchased the Pirates indicated that its members were Joseph Trees, millionaire oil magnate, State Senator John Harris, Pittsburgh; Henry Townsend, president of the Pittsburgh hockey club, and State Senator James Coyne, of Pittsburgh.

Other rumors, all of which have failed of confirmation, linked the name of Fred Clarke, assistant manager of the Pirates, with the reported new owners of the club.

Those who professed to have inside knowledge of the deal said Dreyfus agreed to sell after winning his second National league pennant in sixteen years.

It would seem that, with the Senatorial infield as shaky as it has been the Pirates have overlooked a bet in not doing more bunting. They even forbore with young Buddy Myer at third base. Another tip would be to bunt against Walter Johnson today. Provided his leg happens to be as badly injured as they say it is.

FACTS ABOUT MAKING OF DEMILLE PHOTOPLAY, 'THE TEN COMMANDMENTS'

Spectacular Production Will Open Four-day Engagement at Ceramic on Wednesday.

Here are facts about the making of Cecile De Mille's spectacular photoplay, which opens a four-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Wednesday evening:

After eight months of preparation production was started in desert locales duplicating Israel's exodus from Egypt and stay in the Sinaitic Wilderness. More than 2,500 people were used in the Biblical scenes of the story. Means were found to represent Israel's dryshod passage of the Red Sea and the engulfing of the hosts of Pharo.

Among the engineering works accomplished were the Israelitish slave-built City of Rameses with twenty-four sphinxes and four colossi, also alongside it a modern Tent City with every public utility convenience to accommodate the working thongs; the conversion of the asphaltic bed of the Mojave dry lake into a racing ground for Pharoh's chariots; the construction of the Sinaitic canyon where Moses read the tablets of the Law and where subsequently three thousand idolaters were consumed by Heaven's wrath for the worship of the Golden Calf.

Before the play opened in New York, an extremely interesting exhibition of the actual costume designs, models and ornaments was held at the Hotel Astor. It was attended by hundreds of courtiers, fashioned designers, artists, illustrators and other professionally interested, as well as by the merely curious. In the wardrobe department of the production which these master models served, nearly 85,000 yards of cloth were made up into the clothing of the armies of people.

In the modern story advantage was taken of a great contemporary work of the new and stately Sts. Peter's and Paul's in the city of San Francisco. Many of the scenes were filmed atop the nave or high in the spire-work of the rising Cathedral, with the Golden Gate and the Bay as the backgrounds. Scenes of wild storm and havoc were secured on the ocean. Even Chinatown yielded new secrets for the foreign quarter episode of the story.

Prosperity Heralded In Soviet Russia By New Cigar Factory

MOSCOW.—Prosperity is heralded in Soviet Russia in wreaths of cigar smoke. For the first time since the revolution, a cigar factory, the Gaverneria, has opened and immediately was flooded with orders.

Until now a cigar was a sign of plethoric wealth in Russia, and a man who walked the streets with a stogie in his mouth was sure to be spotted as a bloated capitalist. Now the workers are the biggest smokers, and the Moscow trade unions alone ordered 25,000 of the new factory's first production.

Mexican growers of sisal, from which our binder twine is made, have just formed co-operative growing societies.

Goslin first caused a vast oppression to settle upon the populace with his homer in the opening inning, his third of the season, then scared his boys out of their shoes by hitting five terrific fouls in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

This run, by the way, was where it was because of the longest drive of the series. It would have been a homer in any other spot but Joe Harris chose to hit it up against the screen in remote centerfield. The silence was deafening.

SURRENDER
The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Beecher Morris

CHAPTER 58.

The sun was a great red ball rolling up Indian Hill, when Amoura, clad in smart riding habit, left Ainsley House and galloped into the woods on the crest, astride her beloved Prince. It was a glorious morning and the intoxicating vigor of the brittle air made her veins tingle with exultation.

"I've neglected you terribly, haven't I, old fellow," she said, as she rode, jockey style, very close to the horse's ears, and gave him a pat or two. His eyes gave an extra blink and he accelerated his pace.

"That's a nice boy, that's a nice boy." Now she wondered how she had ever gotten along so long without riding. This was what she had missed more than anything else in Chicago. Inevitably she was reminded of Vey Ardle, and the magnificent animal he was riding the morning she met him. Why had she heard nothing from Vay? A queer feeling suffused her as the question came to mind. Surely he had read in the newspapers about the kidnaping; all of the horrible details. And after declaring his love. . . . Her heart had a curious little flutter.

She paused at the crest of the hill and sat immovably on the horse, surveying the valley, while Prince pawed impatiently. The morning mist was slowly revealing the ugliness of the town below. She could faintly discern lines of men, like ants, going to work in the factories which belched towers of ominous smoke into the skies. About these factories were the wretched dwellings where the bone and muscle of Westland was born and lived and died. How bare they seemed. . . . Whey not stay in Westland and do something for these people? The vagrant thought floated out of her mind as it was born.

Prince was nibbling at a bush. "I'm hungry, too, old fellow, let's go!" She directed him into the other road that wound around the mount, and sent him into a gallop. Around a bend she heard voices, and thought of turning back and going the other way, for it probably was a party of Riding Club members. But there was not time to turn now. The party, composed of four women and two men, came into view. Lucia Berryman, Marcia Thompson, Eileen Reagan, Grace Vanderpool, Teddy McArthur and Grace's father.

"Hello, Amoura," Lucia shouted. The others greeted her less enthusiastically. Amoura didn't intend to stop, but Lucia reined in. "Why haven't you been to see me?'

"Oh, this is the first time I've been out since I came home." She could feel the curious eyes of the others upon her. She met Eileen Reagan's glance, and the other girl's eyes dropped.

"The Riding Club's annual fox hunt is going to be held next Thursday. You must come, and induce your father to come, too," Lucia announced.

Amoura nooded, indifferently. These people didn't interest her any more. She was not annoyed by their tactless stares.

Prince started on of his own accord and Amoura smiled pleasantly at Mr. Vanderpool, who was one of her father's best friends. Impulsively she turned in her saddle, and called to Lucia: "Come over for tea this afternoon.' She wanted somebody to talk to.

Amoura went home by way of her grandmother's. Prince, breakfastless, was disappointed when she turned into the gate of the sedate mansion of the dowager Mrs. Ainsley, widow of old Thomas Q.

To those of the city who knew this colorful figure less intimately, it seemed that Grandma Ainsley had been in the neighborhood of eighty years old for years and years; but she was only seventy-five now. Her silver hair had made her "look like a grandmother" since she was fifty. Fifteen years ago she really felt like a grandmother, and decided it was time to make peace with her God and prepare to die, but then, in a few years, her mind took another turn, causing her, as she put it privately, to "grow up again." Now she felt very young; she read the new, sexy novels; loved the movies, which she visited "secretly" so as to be alone and see the photoplay twice if she liked it; and went to Chicago every winter for the grand opera season. She felt very young; but to those about her she was very old.

Grandma was not awake, and her maid, old in service and indifferent to Amoura, as she was to all of the Ainsleys but her incomparable mistress, wasn't disposed to wake her.

"Why haven't you been over to see her?" Millie asked. Amoura guessed that her grandmother was hurt because of the neglect.

"This is the first time I've been out ———."

She turned and went home, leading Prince.

"There was a telephone call for you, Miss Amoura,' Della informed her." A Mr. Johnson."

It Started Something

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is correctly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

LONDON SOCIAL SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING

King and Queen Will Welcome Prince of Wales.

TANGO POPULAR

Dutch Ruler Plans to Spend Two Weeks at Buckingham.

LONDON.—London's Fall social season is now in full swing, with the Prince of Wales on his way home from his dominion and foreign tours.

King George and Queen Mary will return to Buckingham palace, from Balmoral castle to give the heir to the British throne the literal "royal welcome.'

What is likely to give the season a really brilliant start will be the return to London of H. H. the Maharajah of Patiala, the enormously rich and popular Indian Prince who recently set the whole country talking about his magnificent mode of living at the Savoy where he stayed for a month with a suite of fifty persons.

Wilhelmina Expected.

The Queen of the Netherlands is to visit London when the King and queen return from the North. She will remain for about two weeks.

It is many years since she visited England, as she travels very little, and her visit on this occasion will be purely an unofficial and informal one.

The Prince of Wales will probably be deputed to meet Queen Wilhelmina —one of his first official engagements after his return.

Since she has been in Scotland this year it is understood Queen Mary has purchased $20,000 worth of antiques, mostly in Edinburgh.

Strange to say, despite her numerous purchases visitors to her private rooms at Buckingham palace see extraordinary few antiques, though there are vast quantities of china. Many of her purchases go as Christmas and birthday presents while the remainder are "dumped' in Windsor castle.

It is said that the queen is an excellent judge of values and has never once purchased a "faked" antique.

Tango in Favor.

All London is now taking tango lessons, for the tango is to be the dance of the Winter. Already the famous Canaro Tango band, with Rosa Canaro, the Spanish singer, is on its way from Buenos Aires to make cosmopolitan London succumb to its insidious rhythm.

With the tango will came tango dresses—longer and wider skirts heavily bound with fur to suggest movement. Waists, however, will be lower than ever and the upper part of the corsage will still cling to the figure only the lower part of the gown being of inordinate fullness.

There has been a definite attempt to introduce the "Charleston." Its rythme has been found too jerky for some English and cosmopolitan dancers, who prefer the swift slinging glide of the fox-trot or the sensuous rhythm of the tango.

Man Dives 2,600 Feet to Death at Yosemite Falls

Yosemite, Cal.—Evidences of a 2,600-foot suicide leap by Theodore Jackowski of San Francisco were found when human bones were found by park rangers at the foot of Yosemite falls.

The suicide was first indicated when hikers recently found at the top of the falls a coat in the pocket of which was a note and a will scribbled in pencil, signed by Jackowski and dated June 7.

The will said Jackowski had loaned Arthur Schwerin of Mayfield, Cal., $1,200 in 1921 and instructed a Redwood City man to have Schwerin pay his funeral expenses and give the balance of the money, except for a small amount, to the Veterans' hospital at Menlo Park, Cal.

While wages are lower in Germany than in many other countries excessive taxes cause costs of goods to mount higher than those outside.

Yesterday was Columbus day. Many stopped work, much to their satisfaction. About the only attention paid to Columbus outside of perfunctory speeches was in vaudeville, thus:

Who was Columbus?
He discovered America.
Where is he now?
In Ohio.

Paris dances the Charleston, jumping, bumping, hideous twisting of feet, knees and all the rest of it, to the tune of "Red Hot Mamma." If Louis XVI and his Marie Antoinette could come back, holding their head on their necks, and see that horrible change from the old minuet, each would say "I am glad they cut our heads off before this happened."

Massachusetts Institute of Technology allows young female students to smoke at dances and other social events in the Walker Memorial building.

For girls intending to marry, smoking is all right, although it makes the moustache grow, and the nose red. Girls that have lives worth while, to marry and have children, should postpone smoking until after 45—and give the children at least half a chance.

A man with a piece of property hard to sell was asked, "What would you do if a man offered you $1,000,000 for it?" He replied: "First of all I would insure the man's life."

The United States sought to insure the life of Martin B. Madden, chairman of the appropriations committee in the house of representatives.

He says the army has been a "spendthrift in the air, wasting millions in experiments without meaning," and he adds that the army ought to build 1,500 new flying machines a year. That's common sense.

LECTURE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Frank Church Will Open Eagles' Lyceum Course.

Frank Church, lecturer, humorist and entertainer, will appear in the Eagles' temple, Friday evening, of this week in the opening number of the lyceum course which is being offered under the auspices of the degree team of East Liverpool Aerie No. 457, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Church has been given the nickname, "Fighting Red." He went to Europe during the World war where he lectured to America's fighting forces. In this work he was a member of the "Flying Squadron," a group of speakers. Church plays a half dozen instruments and was called "the one-man band" by the troops. He sings humorous songs to his own accompaniment, and gives instrumental solos on the autoharp.

Among his lectures, one of which will be given Friday night, are "The Call of The New America," "The Unexpected," "Ginger and Snuff, or How to Hang on Both Feet," and "Home Sweet Home, or Sunshine With a Punch."

PITTSBURGH BASEBALL CRAZY AS 45,000 RUSH FOR LAST CLASH SEATS

Forbes Field Stands Taxed to Capacity When Senators and Pirates Meet in Seventh and Deciding Battle of World's Series in Land of Smoke—Scalpers Busy Seeking Customers.

SKITTISH MOMENT FOR HUMAN-FLESH AS PLAYERS STRUGGLE FOR TITLE

Odds of Six to Five Offered on National League Champs Who Expect Washington to Take Second Money and Punch on Chin as They Hammer Ball in Crucial Contest.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—As skittish a moment as ever confronted mortal flesh arrived this afternoon with the seventh and final game of the world's series, and Blondin, crossing Niagara Falls on a tight rope, could afford a misstep no less than, could the Pirates and Senators. Tied at three-all, the team that didn't hit the bull's eye was the team that was to take second money and a punch on the chin.

More than 45,000 fans, the record crowd of the series was here to say that the Washington Senators, having cracked behind a three to one lead, was due for the block. Translated this means that the Senators were to block one with their chin and take a fall. Plenty of money at odds of six to five was staked on this theory.

However, two hours before the gong there was more than a bare possibility that nothing would transpire. Nothing that is except one little drop of rain after another. The forecast was for rain later in the day but noon found the situation so dark that it looked as though the elements meant to score a news beat on the forecaster.

Both Clubs Pray for Rain.

However, if the weather remained as is, Washington hardly figured to be altogether displaced since it was the general thought that Walter Johnson was due to pitch his third game and, mayhap, his third victory of the series.

Walter likes a dark background for his fast one, and today's was no darker than ink on a blackboard.

However, a postponement would prove a boon of great magnitude to both clubs, but a trifle more so to Pittsburgh. It would assure the third appearance of Vic Aldridge in the series and the Senators have seen all too much of him already.

Trifle Lighter at Noon.

Oldham won three games and lost two this season and appeared in only two complete games.

It didn't seem logical to drop a nickel pitcher in the slot and expect to see a million dollar ball game shoot out, but nevertheless, this was said to have been McKechnie's plan no later than 11:15 this morning.

A postponement would have meant a further rest for Johnson's trick leg, but altogether it meant more to the Pirates to carry the situation through another 24 hours. It began to look a trifle lighter shortly after the noon hour, however, there being the moist hint that the sun still existed out where the blue begins.

Morrison in Relief Role.

The great fight of the Pirates in smashing their way back from a discredited second runner to an absolute stand-off with no questions asked, brought the entire town up standing. Quite a lot of the boys remained in that position for the afternoon but through no choice of theirs. Standing room tickets, at $3.30 per lineal and physical foot, were sold for the first time during the series.

Speculators plied their nefarious traffic in hotel lobbies, on street corners and where they might in a short of catch-as-catch-can-miss system of operations. The young men were in excellent voice but the crowd stayed away from them in droves, waiting for a bear movement in the market. It came around noon when the boys started to shave prices considerably.

The Pirates burst upon the scene shortly afterward, and, almost simultaneously, came a report that McKechnie planned to start Oldham only so that he might reply immediately with Johnny Morrison. The latter it seemed felt that he could give a representative account of himself only if he came on in the guise of a relief pitcher.

REV. J. L. SHAW GIVEN LETTER OF DISMISSAL BY PRESBYTERY

PASTOR PRESENT

Will Conduct Services for Evangelical Association.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Toronto, and who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool two years ago, accepted a letter of dismissal from the United Presbyterian church when he appeared before the Steubenville Presbytery, meeting at the Grant Hills church, near Salineville, yesterday, to answer charges brought by the Cleveland Presbytery.

Shaw, who was charged with disrupting the Brooklyn United Presbyterian church of Cleveland by his practice of "divine healing," attended the meeting, bringing with him a mass of affidavits and papers with fourteen members of his congregation at the Cleveland tabernacle.

Rev. W. H. Hubbell of Cleveland and Dr. C. A. Beach of Akron, members of the Cleveland Presbytery, appeared against him.

The judiciary committee of the Steubenville Presbytery heard both sides of the case separately, then called both sides together. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second church of East Liverpool, chairman of the committee, ordered its three conferences held in secret.

A compromise was effected when the presbytery voted to accept the recommendation of its committee.

This was, that as Shaw had suggested, he withdraw from the church, thus removing the cause of the complaints of the Cleveland presbytery; the presbytery remove its complaints and grant Shaw as a minister in good standing a letter of dismissal from the church to the Evangelical association of Cleveland.

Rev. E. L. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver church, near West Point, vice moderator of the presbytery, ordered Shaw to be given the letter of dismissal.

Shaw, who went to the Brooklyn church and started his practice of "divine healing" about a year and a half ago, later going to his own tabernacle, said he would continue to conduct his services there as usual in his new connection with the Evangelical association.

C. E. West Given Permit to Conduct Street Dance Here

Mayor Brown has granted Clarence E. West of East Sixth street permission to conduct a dance on Second street on Hallowe'en night, October 31.

West has engaged a band to furnish music. The street is to be roped off from the C. & P. railroad tracks to Union street. There will be round and square dancing.

The dance will probably be the only general observance of Hallowe'en here. West conducted a dance on the new West Fifth street paving a year ago.

Jersey City Postoffice Clerk Stabs Young Wife to Death

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—George Winters, young postoffice clerk, stabbed his 21-year-old wife, Margaret, to death early today in their home here, according to police. Winters, after stabbing himself, was arrested.

Jealousy was said to have caused the murder.

Mrs. Winters went to an inn last night with two girl friends, two men and a chaperon. Winters works at night and his wife was lonely, police said. The couple had quarreled over this question for the past two months according to neighbors.

Winters came home and not finding his wife inquired at the house of Mrs. Winters' friend, Cecilia Maccricard. He found his wife hiding under a bed, police said.

Winters then walked the streets, later returning home where Mrs. Winters had gone. Neighbors heard screams shortly afterward and called the authorities.

Mrs. Winters was found a few feet from the bed with a knife wound in her shoulder, neck and heart. She was dead.

Winters was bleeding from a self-inflicted stab wound.

Cyrena Van and Jacques Gordon in Joint Recital Will Open 1925-26 Season on Monday, Oct. 19.

Season tickets for the 1925-26 series of recitals to be given under auspices of the Civic Music association will open at the box office of the Ceramic theater at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The series of concerts will open at the theater next Monday when Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Jacques Gordon will offer a joint recital.

Miss Van Gordon is recognized as one of the youngest grand opera stars of the day and is among the most popular concert singers. Twelve years ago when Cleofante Campanini was director of the Chicago Opera company, he heard Miss Van Gordon sing in a religious pageant in Cincinnati. So impressed was he with her voice and dramatic powers that he immdiately offered her the contralto role with the Chicago organization. Her debut with the organization was made in 1913, when, at the age of 20, she sang the role of Amneris in "Aida."

Miss Van Gordon's greatest opportunity came when, under Mary Garden's directorship, the Chicago Opera company, she was given the role of Brunnhilde in the "The Valkyrie."

The East Liverpool concerts will be open only to members of the Civic Music association.

ELWOOD JUDY ARRESTED FOR CHICKEN THEFT AFTER FARMER OPENS FIRE

Five Fowls Found in Sack After Yellow Creek Man's Gunshots Riddle Rear End of Automobile.

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 14.—Elwood Judy, 28, of East Liverpool, is under arrest here today on a charge of stealing chickens from Frank Vandyke's coopes at Yellow Creek. Judy, who is a World war veteran, said he and two companions drove to Wellsville to look for "chickens." They were unable to attract the flapper variety to their automobile, he said, so they drove out Yellow Creek and caught a number of the other brand.

Vandyke discovered the trio in one of the coops and opened fire on the automobile when they fled. The whole back end was torn out of the machine and Judy was captured. His two companions escaped. Five fowls were found in a sack in the car.

Three Runaway Boys Held in Youngstown For Train Jumping

The lads are: Edward Barker, 16, 654 Minerva street; Clarence Stephens, 15, Beechwood, and William Strauss, 16, 637 Youngs alley. The Barker and Stephens lads are wards of the probate court, according to McShane.

Relatives asked local and county officials to assist in locating the boys. At first it was believed that they had gone to Columbus.

Relatives were to go to Youngstown this afternoon to bring them back here.

Twins Court, Wed Together; Babies Born at Same Time

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Charles De Roberts and Mrs. Jack Roth are alike as two peas in a pod and have been all their lives, for they are twins.

They have grown up together from childhood and have become accustomed to doing the same thing at the same time. They even courted together and were married at practically the same time a year ago. Both entered the Bronx hospital together a few days ago. Yesterday they gave birth to babies at the same time. The babies both weighed eight and a half pounds. The only difference being that baby De Roberts is a girl and baby Roth is a boy. Today both mothers were "very well" and happy.

Many of the stores have arranged attractive window displays and are employing other publicity features to direct attention to the pharmacy business. The purpose of the observance is to place the profession on a higher standing.

COSHOCTON, Oct. 14.—With the death here of six-year-old Charles Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, Coshocton county's automobile death toll stood at five today for the year. The Ross boy was struck and run down by an automobile driven by Mrs. Ray Felton, of Coshocton, while he was chasing a ball across the road.

SECOND DEGREE MURDER COUNT RETURNED IN M'LAIN CASE

Automobile Salesman Must Face Jury For Shooting.

MAY SEEK BOND

Two Other Indictments Are Voted by Grand Jury.

George Anderson, 43, automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, was indicted for second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Frank R. McLain, 25, fleet manager for the McLain Yellow Cab agency, here on October 3, by a special grand jury which reported to Judge J. G. Moore in common pleas court, Lisbon, at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

Will Be Arraigned Monday.

Anderson, who has been a prisoner in the county jail since the night of the shooting, which occurred in the home of his aunt, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Second and Jackson streets, with two other men indicted for other offenses, will be arraigned at 9 o'clock Monday morning. He is expected to plead not guilty.

Bail is permitted under a second degree murder indictment, but whether efforts to obtain the release of the accused man will be made could not be learned today as his counsel, Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, is out of the city.

McLain, the victim of the shooting, died in the City hospital five hours after he was wounded in the abdomen. The shooting according to a statement given the police by the dying man, occurred after he had answered a taxicab call and drove to the Anderson home, where he assisted his passenger from the car into the house and up a stairway to a second floor bedroom.

Other Indictments.

Others indicted by the grand jury, which was called primarily to investigate the charge against Anderson, and the counts returned were:

Virgil Young, Wellsville, larceny of automobile tires.

Miles Decker, Salem, stealing a Ford roadster from J. A. Kuhl, Salem.

MRS. REMY KREMER AND LITTLE DAUGHTER HAPPY AS "DADDY" PITCHES BUCS TO THIRD VICTORY

By KATHARINE BRUSH.
Special to The Review-Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The evil that men do lives after them. So does the evil other men think they do, whether or not they actually did it. Ask Sam Rice, of the Senators. He knows. He found out during yesterday's world's series game, when Pirate rooters many thousand strong showed what they thought of the catch he made, not wisely but too well, in the game Saturday at Washington, by according him something the sort of reception the kaiser might have been given to Belgium once upon a time.

In my career I have seen many people get what is generally known as the razz. I've seen amateur actors hooked off the stage, and bottles hurled at umpires, and once I saw a politician get hit with a tomato that had lived to a ripe old age. But never have I seen anyone so thoroughly and painstakingly derided as was Mr. Rice at Forbes Field yesterday. The crowd didn't throw things at him. They did worse. The universal boo that arose from the stands whenever he came up to bat sounded like a winter wind blowing through a million pine trees. The roar of approval that greeted every single strike called on him made the head rock and the ears hum. Every time the umpire signified that Kremer had pitched him a ball, the crowd hurled invective upon the umpire, charging lack of judgment, astigmatism, insanity and what-ever-you. And the ecstacy evinced by all hands whenever Rice struck out or was put out on base was second only to the excitement caused by Eddie Moore's four-bagger. Taking it all in all, Rice put in rather a bad day.

How Did Rice Feel?

I have an insatiable curiosity about ball players at ball games. Let any one of them get in any predicament or achieve any conspicuous glory, and I am so obsessed with wondering what's going on in their minds that I often miss the next few plays entirely. The sad plight of the Washington center fielder particularly intrigued me. When he walked to the plate with the howl of approbrium in his ears, how did he feel? Was he smarting with the injustice of the Pittsburgh attitude? Or was he angry, with the violent anger of the wrong-doer whose wrong is found out? The answer to this is the answer to the moot question of whether or not Rice actually made the catch. And that will never be definitely known by anyone except Rice and the boy in the bleachers from whom he either did or did not grab the ball.

I'm a little more sure of what Kremer of the Pirates was thinking when he pitched his team to victory, because I talked to him about it less than an hour after the game was over. "I've been playing baseball for 12 years," he told me simply, "and it's always been my highest ambition to pitch a world series game—and win. Now I've done it, and I'm probably the happiest fellow you ever saw."

He looked happy. I found him sitting in a room at the Hotel Schenley occupied by Mr. and

PITTSBURGH BASEBALL CRAZY AS 45,000 RUSH FOR LAST CLASH SEATS

Forbes Field Stands Taxed to Capacity When Senators and Pirates Meet in Seventh and Deciding Battle of World's Series in Land of Smoke—Scalpers Busy Seeking Customers.

SKITTISH MOMENT FOR HUMAN-FLESH AS PLAYERS STRUGGLE FOR TITLE

Odds of Six to Five Offered on National League Champs Who Expect Washington to Take Second Money and Punch on Chin as They Hammer Ball in Crucial Contest.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—As skittish a moment as ever confronted mortal flesh arrived this afternoon with the seventh and final game of the world's series, and Blondin, crossing Niagara Falls on a tight rope, could afford a misstep no less than, could the Pirates and Senators. Tied at three-all, the team that didn't hit the bull's eye was the team that was to take second money and a punch on the chin.

More than 45,000 fans, the record crowd of the series was here to say that the Washington Senators, having cracked behind a three to one lead, was due for the block. Translated this means that the Senators were to block one with their chin and take a fall. Plenty of money at odds of six to five was staked on this theory.

However, two hours before the gong there was more than a bare possibility that nothing would transpire. Nothing that is except one little drop of rain after another. The forecast was for rain later in the day but noon found the situation so dark that it looked as though the elements meant to score a news beat on the forecaster.

Both Clubs Pray for Rain.

However, if the weather remained as is, Washington hardly figured to be altogether displaced since it was the general thought that Walter Johnson was due to pitch his third game and, mayhap, his third victory of the series.

Walter likes a dark background for his fast one, and today's was no darker than ink on a blackboard.

However, a postponement would prove a boon of great magnitude to both clubs, but a trifle more so to Pittsburgh. It would assure the third appearance of Vic Aldridge in the series and the Senators have seen all too much of him already.

Trifle Lighter at Noon.

Oldham won three games and lost two this season and appeared in only two complete games.

It didn't seem logical to drop a nickel pitcher in the slot and expect to see a million dollar ball game shoot out, but nevertheless, this was said to have been McKechnie's plan no later than 11:15 this morning.

A postponement would have meant a further rest for Johnson's trick leg, but altogether it meant more to the Pirates to carry the situation through another 24 hours. It began to look a trifle lighter shortly after the noon hour, however, there being the moist hint that the sun still existed out where the blue begins.

Morrison in Relief Role.

The great fight of the Pirates in smashing their way back from a discredited second runner to an absolute stand-off with no questions asked, brought the entire town up standing. Quite a lot of the boys remained in that position for the afternoon but through no choice of theirs. Standing room tickets, at $3.30 per lineal and physical foot, were sold for the first time during the series.

Speculators plied their nefarious traffic in hotel lobbies, on street corners and where they might in a short of catch-as-catch-can-miss system of operations. The young men were in excellent voice but the crowd stayed away from them in droves, waiting for a bear movement in the market. It came around noon when the boys started to shave prices considerably.

The Pirates burst upon the scene shortly afterward, and, almost simultaneously, came a report that McKechnie planned to start Oldham only so that he might reply immediately with Johnny Morrison. The latter it seemed felt that he could give a representative account of himself only if he came on in the guise of a relief pitcher.

REV. J. L. SHAW GIVEN LETTER OF DISMISSAL BY PRESBYTERY

PASTOR PRESENT

Will Conduct Services for Evangelical Association.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Toronto, and who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool two years ago, accepted a letter of dismissal from the United Presbyterian church when he appeared before the Steubenville Presbytery, meeting at the Grant Hills church, near Salineville, yesterday, to answer charges brought by the Cleveland Presbytery.

Shaw, who was charged with disrupting the Brooklyn United Presbyterian church of Cleveland by his practice of "divine healing," attended the meeting, bringing with him a mass of affidavits and papers with fourteen members of his congregation at the Cleveland tabernacle.

Rev. W. H. Hubbell of Cleveland and Dr. C. A. Keach of Akron, members of the Cleveland Presbytery, appeared against him.

The judiciary committee of the Steubenville Presbytery heard both sides of the case separately, then called both sides together. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second church of East Liverpool, chairman of the committee, ordered its three conference held in secret.

A compromise was effected when the presbytery voted to accept the recommendation of its committee.

This was, that as Shaw had suggested, he withdraw from the church, thus removing the cause of the complaints of the Cleveland presbytery; the presbytery remove its complaints and grant Shaw as a minister in good standing a letter of dismissal from the church to the Evangelical association of Cleveland.

Rev. E. L. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver church, near West Point, vice moderator of the presbytery, ordered Shaw to be given the letter of dismissal.

Shaw, who went to the Brooklyn church and started his practice of "divine healing" about a year and a half ago, later going to his own tabernacle, said he would continue to conduct his services there as usual in his new connection with the Evangelical association.

RESERVED SEAT SALE FOR CIVIC MUSIC CONCERTS OPENS TOMORROW

Cyrena Van and Jacques Gordon in Joint Recital Will Open 1925-26 Season on Monday, Oct. 19.

Season tickets for the 1925-26 series of recitals to be given under auspices of the Civic Music association will open at the box office of the Ceramic theater at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The series of concerts will open at the theater next Monday when Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Jacques Gordon will offer a joint recital.

Miss Van Gordon is recognized as one of the youngest grand opera stars of the day and is among the most popular concert singers. Twelve years ago when Cleofante Campanini was director of the Chicago Opera company, he heard Miss Van Gordon sing in a religious pageant in Cincinnati. So impressed was he with her voice and dramatic powers that he immdiately offered her the contralto role with the Chicago organization. Her debut with the organization was made in 1913, when, at the age of 20, she sang the role of Amneris in "Aida."

Miss Van Gordon's greatest opportunity came when, under Mary Garden's directorship, the Chicago Opera company, she was given the role of Brunnhilde in the "The Valktyle."

The East Liverpool concerts will be open only to members of the Civic Music association.

ELWOOD JUDY ARRESTED FOR CHICKEN THEFT AFTER FARMER OPENS FIRE

Five Fowls Found in Sack After Yellow Creek Man's Gunshots Riddle Rear End of Automobile.

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 14.—Elwood Judy, 28, of East Liverpool, is under arrest here today on a charge of stealing chickens from Frank Vandyke's coopes at Yellow Creek. Judy, who is a World war veteran, said he and two companions drove to Wellsville to look for "chickens." They were unable to attract the flapper variety to their automobile, he said, so they drove out Yellow Creek and caught a number of the other brand.

Vandyke discovered the trio in one of the coops and opened fire on the automobile when they fled. The whole back end was torn out of the machine and Judy was captured. His two companions escaped. Five fowls were found in a sack in the car.

MRS. REMY KREMER AND LITTLE DAUGHTER HAPPY AS "DADDY" PITCHES BUCS TO THIRD VICTORY

By KATHARINE BRUSH.
Special to The Review-Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The evil that men do lives after them. So does the evil other men think they do, whether or not they actually did it. Ask Sam Rice, of the Senators. He knows. He found out during yesterday's world's series game, when Pirate rooters many thousand strong showed what they thought of the catch he made, not wisely but too well, in the game Saturday at Washington, by according him something the sort of reception the kaiser might have been given to Belgium once upon a time.

In my career I have seen many people get what is generally known as the razz. I've seen amateur actors hooked off the stage, and bottles hurled at umpires, and once I saw a politician get hit with a tomato that had lived to a ripe old age. But never have I seen anyone so thoroughly and painstakingly derided as was Mr. Rice at Forbes Field yesterday. The crowd didn't throw things at him. They did worse. The universal boo that arose from the stands whenever he came up to bat sounded like a winter wind blowing through a million pine trees. The roar of approval that greeted every single strike called on him made the head rock and the ears hum. Every time the umpire signified that Kremer had pitched him a ball, the crowd hurled invective upon the umpire, charging lack of judgment, astigmatism, insanity and what-ever-you. And the ecstacy evinced by all hands whenever Rice struck out or was put out on base was second only to the excitement caused by Eddie Moore's four-bagger. Taking it all in all, Rice put in rather a bad day.

How Did Rice Feel?

I have an insatiable curiosity about ball players at ball games. Let any one of them get in any predicament or achieve any conspicuous glory, and I am so obsessed with wondering what's going on in their minds that I often miss the next few plays entirely. The sad plight of the Washington center fielder particularly intrigued me. When he walked to the plate with the howl of approbrium in his ears, how did he feel? Was he smarting with the injustice of the Pittsburgh attitude? Or was he angry, with the violent anger of the wrong-doer whose wrong is found out? The answer to this is the answer to the moot question of whether or not Rice actually made the catch. And that will never be definitely known by anyone except Rice and the boy in the bleachers from whom he either did or did not grab the ball.

I'm a little more sure of what Kremer of the Pirates was thinking when he pitched his team to victory, because I talked to him about it less than an hour after the game was over. "I've been playing baseball for 12 years," he told me simply, "and it's always been my highest ambition to pitch a world series game—and win. Now I've done it, and I'm probably the happiest fellow you ever saw."

He looked happy. I found him sitting in a room at the Hotel Schenley occupied by Mr. and

MEMBERS OF 80 TRIBES ATTEND INDIAN SCHOOL

Haskell Institute May Safely Lay Claim to Being 100 Per Cent American.

Lawrence, Kan.—Haskell institute may set down its claim to honor as "100 per cent American." For only true Americans may enter here.

The largest of the government's Indian schools, already opened for its fall term, Haskell institute last winter drew 1,040 American Indian girls and boys from nearly eighty tribes. From Key West to Ketchikan they came, and from Yakima to Yonkers.

Oklahoma's delegation numbered 333, almost one-third of the student enrollment. Yet her neighbor state to the south, Texas, had but one representative in the student body. Kansas was second in numbers with 104, and South Dakota next with 103. Alaska was represented by a single student of the Eyak tribe.

Outnumbering any single Indian tribe are the Sioux, whose 119 members here came from five middle-western states. Cherokees and Potawatomies made up the third largest tribal delegation.

The Chippewas came from the greatest area. They had roved the continent. Then there are Apache and Mojave, Navajo and Papago, Hopi and Piute from the Southwest; Bannock and Nez Perce, Flathead and Shoshone from the Northwest; Kickapoo and Sac and Fox, Chippewa and Ottawa, Wyandotte and Winnebago from the Middle West, and from Oklahoma and the South came Chickasaw and Choctaw, Creek and Cherokee.

PIMPLES
are caused by blood impurities

WHEN your system is lacking in rich, red blood, it is too weak to purify itself. So, impurities break out through the skin. Pimples, blackheads, rashes, boils or eczema are the result.

And the common sense thing to do is to build back your blood to where it is so rich and red and pure that the impurities can't live. More red cells are what you need—and then you just watch your skin clear up.

Now the greatest aid for building red-blood-cells the world has ever known is S. S. S. Everybody knows that S. S. S. has proved it for generations. You can't get away from it. S. S. S. helps Nature build red-blood-cells by the millions—simply fills your system full of rich, red, pure blood.

Your skin clears right up, soft and beautiful—firm, plump flesh rounds out your figure—your eyes sparkle and there's a spring in your step.

And how good you feel after S. S. S. has put your blood in order. You enjoy eating—you sleep fine—you get up in the morning feeling fresh and fit—simply brimful of new life and energy.

Don't ever forget that pimples and skin blemishes are caused by blood impurities. And don't ever forget that these impurities can't live in the rich, red, pure blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build. That's simple—isn't it? Well, why go on and be annoyed with unsightly skin eruptions that destroy your natural beauty and make you lose confidence in your own powers? Don't do it! Take S. S. Fewer Farmers

Fifty years ago, an inquirer finds, there were 77,000 farmers and 75,000 farm laborers for every million people in the United States. Today there are only 57,000 farmers and 37,500 farm laborers for every million people.

Is the nation starving? It is not. There is plenty of food produced. Crop prices show that, and experts show it.

The plain fact is that it takes only about half as many people to raise food for a given population as it took half a century ago. Farm machinery and better farming methods have made that possible.

Thus half the farm workers are set free for industrial work. And it is industrial work added to farming that sets society ahead. Food keeps people alive. With that little duty attended to, industry gives them a chance to provide themselves with comforts of all kinds, and accumulate wealth—which is frozen comfort, to be used when wanted.

Sky Flivvers Soon

It was a disappointment to the public when Henry Ford placed on the market large, expensive airplanes, far beyond the reach of the ordinary buyer. His interest in the aviation industry was appreciated, but he was naturally expected to direct his efforts toward the production of a small, inexpensive, serviceable aircraft that adventurous persons of moderate means could afford. Ford precedent and policy suggested that, and the times demanded it.

Now Mr. Ford hastens to allay this disappointment. He explains that his airplane factory is actually working on a genuine air flivver, with standardized and interchangeable parts, after the fashion of his land craft, and that it will soon be offered to the public in any quantity desired.

This is more like it! There will be an air Lincoln and an air flivver, and the great American democracy can take its choice; and everybody is entitled to one guess as to which it will take.

So we shall soon be skittering about the heavens tooting our little Gabriel trumpets and bumping into each other's wings as we now bump each other's fenders. May the wings prove more sturdy than the fenders! And may there be no stalling of engines as we climb over obstructing clouds;

Trees For Farms

Tree planting in the prairie regions of Canada is progressing rapidly. For six consecutive seasons now a tree-planting car has been sent out by the Canadian Forestry association for the purpose of teaching the doctrine of tree-growing and tree-usefulness to settlers. A representative of the forestry association, recently returned to Ottawa from the season's trip on the tree-planting car, says:

"In more than 7,000 miles of travel this year, we have yet to encounter a single farmer who has migrated from a well-treed farm. The secret of stabilized population on the prairies is closely identified with tree-planting, even in excessively dry districts where migration was severe. The farmer with shelter belts of trees managed to make a better living and certainly had no thought of quitting."

As a result of this work, it was reported, 80,000,000 trees have been planted by 45,000 farmers. The early belief that trees could not be grown on the prairies has been dissipated by the splendid results already obtained. Protecting the soil, conserving the water supply, sheltering the homes from winter blasts, beginning the development of a future fuel and lumber supply, and adding beauty and loveliness to the prairie homestead, the tree-planting work goes forward. There's a lesson here for local farm communities that still cut out their woods without reforesting.

Booze-Soaked Russia

It is depressing news from Russia these latter days. With the liquor bars down again, an alcoholic flood pours over the land. The Russian people are drinking vodka, 40 per cent stuff, at the rate of a million quarts a day. They drink it at home and they drink it in the dispensaries and on the streets. The vodka lines are said to be longer than the bread lines were in the time of famine.

The saddest thing about this is that the Moscow government doubtless realizes what it is doing. It is making "a contented people."

A sober nation would have developed a clear brain and saved itself. A nation soaked in alcohol may be stupidly contented with Bolshevism.

The French complain that the Germans still have goose-step parades. From this distance, that looks like a very good substitute for marching on Paris.

David Belasco says the most important thing in life is a good memory. And yet it might be a good thing for Belasco if people would forget one or two of his recent plays.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Waiters in so called "quick and dirty" little restaurants have for years fashioned their own language. "One eyewash" is a grapefruit. "One in the dark" is coffee without cream. "Sunnyside ups" are eggs friend on one side. And so on.

These little holes-in-the-wall feed more than two-thirds of New York's luncheon population. Every large and important hotel has its bevy of them nearby where patrons go, returning later to their hotel lobbies to wield toothpicks.

One big hotel has three cafeterias in its building. The management evidently decided they would locate in the neighborhood so they might as well receive the rents. There is a clattering gusto about them that appeals to rushing New Yorkers. Food on the fly is the New Yorker's gastronomic pace.

There is no smouldering resentment about the waiters so often found in superior places. They are breezy, sometimes untidy, but they serve you cheerfully and with dispatch. Many of them can inquire: "What'll it be, Bo?" without seeming impertinent.

A dime tip receives a polite "Thanks" for causaul service. The most colorful of these restaurants are on the Bowery. Their menus are frosted on the windows and the floors are sprinkled with a coating of sawdust. Patrons may wear hats and leave off coats.

The quick lunches have more than quadrupled since prohibition for many of the ruddy patrons who fill them now were wont to cluster about the free lunch in the old days. Taking in both sides of the street in one block right off Broadway there are eleven.

The quick lunch clientele is not composed of so-called middle class folk by a long shot. In one on 42nd street I saw Flo Zeigfeld and his Major Domo Gene Buck, Edgar Selwyn, Ralph Barton and several others who seemed to be enjoying the paper-napkined fare.

First Edgar Saltus! Now an effort to make a literary hero of Ambrose Bierce who past 70 wandered off into Mexico and was seen no more. Bierce was not acclaimed in life because, like Saltus, he did nothing of vast importance. His fiction was sordid and stilted. He was at his best as a newspaper commentator in San Francisco. The fact he went out of his way to kill faithful dogs in the presence of their masters measures the man, I believe.

However, I believe Bierce, or it may have been Meredith Nicholson, coined the perfect similie: "As stingy as a rich Socialist." And, too, I like the "as tricky as a light in the guest's bedroom" of Baird Leonard.

The guest room in most homes is the most uncomfortable spot about the place. Reading matter is generally confined to such volumes as The History of Iowa, How to Collect Andirons and last summer's quarterly edition of Forestry for Amateurs. There is always a creaky board in the floor and you hit it about 3 o'clock in the morning when a pin drop could be heard. Early morning noises center under the guest room window. The rooster picks this spot to proclaim to the world he has discovered the sun. My idea of the perfect host is one who sacrifices his own quarters for guests.

Paris is no doubt the most beautiful city in the world but returning travelers say its beauty is almost marred by using the Eiffel Tower for an electrical ad for the Citreon—the flivver of France. It is said a many millioned offer has been made to the Woolworth building to decorate its tower with an electrical ad. But was refused.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

How Milk May Be Used.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Milk, as scientists have said for a long time, is the most perfect food. It contains all basic food elements and if taken alone can support life for a considerable time, if not indefinitely.

But only in the last few years have the government's investigators in the Bureau of Dairying proved that in the United States every year billions of pounds of milk in various forms are being wasted; not actually wasted, but fed to cattle when it could be manufactured into by-products of great nutrient value to human beings.

The average housewife thinks of milk in its normal form, as delivered by the dairyman, and given to the children to drink, or used in cooking or baking. She does not know that the by-products which could be made from the 22 billion pounds of skim milk produced in this country annually, would provide her family with the same nourishment at must less cost.

Until a few years ago farmers thought that the skim milk and buttermilk left from creaming and butter making was good for one use only—to be fed to the pigs. Laboratory scientists now know that the formerly despised skim milk has a variety of uses ranging from milk powder to waterproof glue. And the experts in the Bureau of Dairying are still making experiment after experiment to find ways of preventing further waste of the valuable food elements in milk.

So far the greatest progress has been made in the manufacture of milk powder. From the annual production of 22 billion pounds of skim milk it would be possible to manufacture 2,272,000,000 pounds of milk powder. Comparing this possibility with the actual facts, it was found that 69,000,000 pounds of the powder were made in 1924, an almost negligible fraction. Nevertheless this was an increase over 1923 when 62,000,000 pounds were made, while in 1922 the product was only 40,000,000 pounds.

Experiments have proved that not only can skim milk powder be used for many of the same purposes as raw milk, but that in bread making and baking it is superior. It takes nine or ten pounds of milk powder for one barrel of flour for bread making and the number of loaves will exceed that made when ordinary milk is used. It has been estimated that the extra loaves possible when milk powder is used is sufficient to pay the entire cost of the powder.

As the skim milk powder contains all the elements of milk except the butter fat, for which lard is an adequate substitute, bread or cake made with the powder is as nutritious as that made with raw milk.

Where Economy Steps In.

The economy in the use of milk powder lies in the fact that it can be made in the dairying districts and transported cheaply, in many cases by water, because it keeps indefinitely. Raw milk, on the other hand must be transported expensively in refrigerator cars.

The chief difficulty that has been encountered in the utilization of skim milk through milk powder manufacture has been that farmers in outlying districts have not found it worth while to transport their product into the centers where the powder can be manufactured. The present prices of skim milk are not high enough to induce farmers to give up the old custom of feeding skim milk to the live stock. It takes four or five pounds of skim milk to produce one pound of pork or beef, when the milk is used for cattle feed.

Government experts say that until the people of the country can be brought to understand the valuable nutritive qualities of skim milk powder manufacture of the product on a large scale will not be profitable.

Another of the valuable sources of milk by-products has been found in the whey or liquid which remains after the manufacture of cheese. This liquid is generally thrown away, although it contains albumen, protein, milk sugar and minerals.

What Is In Whey.

The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process of extracting the "lacta albumen" from whey. This product is of practically the same content as the white of egg, and has the same property of foaming when beaten.

It is thought that when the new process is perfected, lacta albumen will become a cheap although equally nutritious substitute for egg white.

One of the most valuable components of whey, for which a popular use has not been found, is milk sugar. Milk sugar is important because a certain of it is absolutely necessary in the diet of every human being.

In the human intestines live millions of the microscopic organisms known as the bacillus acidophilus. Although much too tiny to be seen with the naked eye, this bacillus has an important part in maintaining human life, for it brings about the fermentation of food which is a necessary part of the digestive process.

These little bacteria themselves, however, live on milk sugar, and without it would soon die, causing digestion to cease, and endangering the life of the individual. It is because of these digestive properties of milk sugar that it is fed to infants and invalids.

Aside from the function of nourishing the bacillus, acidophilus, milk sugar has the same nutritive properties as ordinary sugar or glucose. It has not, however, the same very sweet, pleasant taste, and at the present is used mainly for medical purposes.

The Bureau of Dairying is now carrying on a series of experiments with milk sugar in the hope of finding some popular use for it, to prevent tons of this valuable food from being thrown away annually.

The whey of milk contains some protein and also the valuable mineral ash, but profitable means of extracting these products have not yet been discovered.

One use for the surplus protein in skim milk has been found in the manufacture of casein, a glutinous product valuable for making waterproof glue. Glue made from casein is used to a large extent in the construction of airplanes.

The United States consumes annually about 60,000,000 pounds of casein of which less than 20,000,000 pounds is produced domestically, while the remainder is imported from South America. About 85 per cent of this total consumption of casein is used in the manufacture of glazed paper. The high gloss on this paper is caused by china clay, but the china clay is held in place by casein.

Another of the important by-products of milk is buttermilk. The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process for condensing buttermilk in a form convenient for use in making sour doughs, and also for use as an acid feed for poultry. Milk powder is also being made from buttermilk, although in comparatively small quantities.

A mill that converts cornstalks into cattle food has been invented.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creasote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it sooths and heals the inflammed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Fewer Farmers

Fifty years ago, an inquirer finds, there were 77,000 farmers and 75,000 farm laborers for every million people in the United States. Today there are only 57,000 farmers and 37,500 farm laborers for every million people.

Is the nation starving? It is not. There is plenty of food produced. Crop prices show that, and experts show it.

The plain fact is that it takes only about half as many people to raise food for a given population as it took half a century ago. Farm machinery and better farming methods have made that possible.

Thus half the farm workers are set free for industrial work. And it is industrial work added to farming that sets society ahead. Food keeps people alive. With that little duty attended to, industry gives them a chance to provide themselves with comforts of all kinds, and accumulate wealth—which is frozen comfort, to be used when wanted.

Sky Flivvers Soon

It was a disappointment to the public when Henry Ford placed on the market large, expensive airplanes, far beyond the reach of the ordinary buyer. His interest in the aviation industry was appreciated, but he was naturally expected to direct his efforts toward the production of a small, inexpensive, serviceable aircraft that adventurous persons of moderate means could afford. Ford precedent and policy suggested that, and the times demanded it.

Now Mr. Ford hastens to allay this disappointment. He explains that his airplane factory is actually working on a genuine air flivver, with standardized and interchangeable parts, after the fashion of his land craft, and that it will soon be offered to the public in any quantity desired.

This is more like it! There will be an air Lincoln and an air flivver, and the great American democracy can take its choice; and everybody is entitled to one guess as to which it will take.

So we shall soon be skittering about the heavens tooting our little Gabriel trumpets and bumping into each other's wings as we now bump each other's fenders. May the wings prove more sturdy than the fenders! And may there be no stalling of engines as we climb over obstructing clouds;

Trees For Farms

Tree planting in the prairie regions of Canada is progressing rapidly. For six consecutive seasons now a tree-planting car has been sent out by the Canadian Forestry association for the purpose of teaching the doctrine of tree-growing and tree-usefulness to settlers. A representative of the forestry association, recently returned to Ottawa from the season's trip on the tree-planting car, says:

"In more than 7,000 miles of travel this year, we have yet to encounter a single farmer who has migrated from a well-treed farm. The secret of stabilized population on the prairies is closely identified with tree-planting, even in excessively dry districts where migration was severe. The farmer with shelter belts of trees managed to make a better living and certainly had no thought of quitting."

As a result of this work, it was reported, 80,000,000 trees have been planted by 45,000 farmers. The early belief that trees could not be grown on the prairies has been dissipated by the splendid results already obtained. Protecting the soil, conserving the water supply, sheltering the homes from winter blasts, beginning the development of a future fuel and lumber supply, and adding beauty and loveliness to the prairie homestead, the tree-planting work goes forward. There's a lesson here for local farm communities that still cut out their woods without reforesting.

Booze-Soaked Russia

It is depressing news from Russia these latter days. With the liquor bars down again, an alcoholic flood pours over the land. The Russian people are drinking vodka, 40 per cent stuff, at the rate of a million quarts a day. They drink it at home and they drink it in the dispensaries and on the streets. The vodka lines are said to be longer than the bread lines were in the time of famine.

The saddest thing about this is that the Moscow government doubtless realizes what it is doing. It is making "a contented people."

A sober nation would have developed a clear brain and saved itself. A nation soaked in alcohol may be stupidly contented with Bolshevism.

The French complain that the Germans still have goose-step parades. From this distance, that looks like a very good substitute for marching on Paris.

David Belasco says the most important thing in life is a good memory. And yet it might be a good thing for Belasco if people would forget one or two of his recent plays.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

How Milk May Be Used.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Milk, as scientists have said for a long time, is the most perfect food. It contains all basic food elements and if taken alone can support life for a considerable time, if not indefinitely.

But only in the last few years have the government's investigators in the Bureau of Dairying proved that in the United States every year billions of pounds of milk in various forms are being wasted; not actually wasted, but fed to cattle when it could be manufactured into by-products of great nutrient value to human beings.

The average housewife thinks of milk in its normal form, as delivered by the dairyman, and given to the children to drink, or used in cooking or baking. She does not know that the by-products which could be made from the 22 billion pounds of skim milk produced in this country annually, would provide her family with the same nourishment at must less cost.

Until a few years ago farmers thought that the skim milk and buttermilk left from creaming and butter making was good for one use only—to be fed to the pigs. Laboratory scientists now know that the formerly despised skim milk has a variety of uses ranging from milk powder to waterproof glue. And the experts in the Bureau of Dairying are still making experiment after experiment to find ways of preventing further waste of the valuable food elements in milk.

So far the greatest progress has been made in the manufacture of milk powder. From the annual production of 22 billion pounds of skim milk it would be possible to manufacture 2,272,000,000 pounds of milk powder. Comparing this possibility with the actual facts, it was found that 69,000,000 pounds of the powder were made in 1924, an almost negligible fraction. Nevertheless this was an increase over 1923 when 62,000,000 pounds were made, while in 1922 the product was only 40,000,000 pounds.

Experiments have proved that not only can skim milk powder be used for many of the same purposes as raw milk, but that in bread making and baking it is superior. It takes nine or ten pounds of milk powder for one barrel of flour for bread making and the number of loaves will exceed that made when ordinary milk is used. It has been estimated that the extra loaves possible when milk powder is used is sufficient to pay the entire cost of the powder.

As the skim milk powder contains all the elements of milk except the butter fat, for which lard is an adequate substitute, bread or cake made with the powder is as nutritious as that made with raw milk.

Where Economy Steps In.

The economy in the use of milk powder lies in the fact that it can be made in the dairying districts and transported cheaply, in many cases by water, because it keeps indefinitely. Raw milk, on the other hand must be transported expensively in refrigerator cars.

The chief difficulty that has been encountered in the utilization of skim milk through milk powder manufacture has been that farmers in outlying districts have not found it worth while to transport their product into the centers where the powder can be manufactured. The present prices of skim milk are not high enough to induce farmers to give up the old custom of feeding skim milk to the live stock. It takes four or five pounds of skim milk to produce one pound of pork or beef, when the milk is used for cattle feed.

Government experts say that until the people of the country can be brought to understand the valuable nutritive qualities of skim milk powder manufacture of the product on a large scale will not be profitable.

Another of the valuable sources of milk by-products has been found in the whey or liquid which remains after the manufacture of cheese. This liquid is generally thrown away, although it contains albumen, protein, milk sugar and minerals.

What is in Whey.

The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process of extracting the "lacta albumen" from whey. This product is of practically the same content as the white of egg, and has the same property of foaming when beaten.

It is thought that when the new process is perfected, lacta albumen will become a cheap although equally nutritious substitute for egg white.

One of the most valuable components of whey, for which a popular use has not been found, is milk sugar. Milk sugar is important because a certain of it is absolutely necessary in the diet of every human being.

In the human intestines live millions of the microscopic organisms known as the bacillus acidophilus. Although much too tiny to be seen with the naked eye, this bacillus has an important part in maintaining human life, for it brings about the fermentation of food which is a necessary part of the digestive process.

These little bacteria themselves, however, live on milk sugar, and without it would soon die, causing digestion to cease, and endangering the life of the individual. It is because of these digestive properties of milk sugar that it is fed to infants and invalids.

Aside from the function of nourishing the bacillus, acidophilus, milk sugar has the same nutritive properties as ordinary sugar or glucose. It has not, however, the same very sweet, pleasant taste, and at the present is used mainly for medical purposes.

The Bureau of Dairying is now carrying on a series of experiments with milk sugar in the hope of finding some popular use for it, to prevent tons of this valuable food from being thrown away annually.

The whey of milk contains some protein and also the valuable mineral ash, but profitable means of extracting these products have not yet been discovered.

One use for the surplus protein in skim milk has been found in the manufacture of casein, a glutinous product valuable for making waterproof glue. Glue made from casein is used to a large extent in the construction of airplanes.

The United States consumes annually about 80,000,000 pounds of casein of which less than 20,000,000 pounds is produced domestically, while the remainder is imported from South America. About 85 per cent of this total consumption of casein is used in the manufacture of glazed paper. The high gloss on this paper is caused by china clay, but the china clay is held in place by casein.

Another of the important by-products of milk is buttermilk. The Bureau of Dairying has discovered a process for condensing buttermilk in a form convenient for use in making sour doughs, and also for use as an acid feed for poultry. Milk powder is also being made from buttermilk, although in comparatively small quantities.

A mill that converts cornstalks into cattle food has been invented.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know that he was playing her accompaniment without touching the keys!

The Gulbransen Registering Piano

Is Here in Our Showrooms

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

Is Here in Our Showrooms

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Stocks of the independent oil companies, under the lead of Marland, Pan-American and Mid-Continent, pushed to the front in extremely active trading in the first hour today. A number of new high record prices for the movement were hung up, though price gains rarely exceeded 1½ points. The motor and industrial stocks opened slightly higher, but stocks were supplied quite freely, and the market as a whole was irregular in this period. Stocks of the gas companies, including Consolidated and Brooklyn Union Gas, moved up fractionally in active trading, and textile stocks also displayed a firm tone. International Nickle featured the metal stocks, with a gain of 2 points.

The money market was steady, and call rates softened fractionally to 5 per cent.

Selling pressure was more pronounced in the second hour, with offerings of high priced industrial and motor stocks at concessions of a point or more. American Can moved against the trend of the market, and hose about 5 points. Baltimore and Ohio was a good leader in the railroad stocks. The Fair led the activity in the mercantile stocks and sold nearly 2 points higher.

a stretcher and lifted him into the electric chair, where he was soon paralyzed, from the head down.

When he wakes up, as he probably believed that he would do, in a better, happier world, he will have an interesting story to tell about this earth and how it does things.

It is said New York bankers have refused a $100,000,000 private loan to France, although all details of the loan were arranged, the bankers acting under government orders or suggestion.

Government ability to control private loans constitutes a powerful weapon these days.

Lady Cynthia Moseley discovers that the Labor party includes "cultured individuals" and "really intelligent, delightful people." The "upper classes" would make many interesting discoveries, if they could go up a little higher in the social scale and investigate those that do the work.

They would even find, to their surprise, that many of the upper classes descend from the laboring class.

Be careful about little things. Sigmund Breitbart, called the strongest man in Germany, bent iron bars with his hands, tore horseshoes apart, held two horses pulling against each other. He scratched himself with his nail, blood poison developed, he's dead. The germs too small to be seen with a microscope are stronger than any man. Such germs are usually on our hands.

Extreme radicals among French workers organize a 24 hour strike, the protest of the proletariat against the war in Morocco.

French workmen, however, possess a knowledge of public affairs and of history, something lacking in this country.

It doesn't take a great deal of knowledge to realize that any class, proletarian or capitalistic, that fails to support its nation in war, will regret his foolishness.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER COMING

Joseph W. Irwin Will Arrive Here at Noon Saturday.

Joseph William Irwin, III, said to be a direct descendant of one of the original pony express riders, who carried mail in the West before the Civil war, will arrive here at noon Saturday on his 600-mile journey through eastern and northern Ohio, in pony express style.

Irwin, who is a member of the Black Horse Troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohio National Guard, left Cleveland last week on his journey which will require a little more than two weeks. The entire trip will be made on horseback and the rider will carry letters from mayors, postmasters and newspaper editors in cities and towns through which he passes.

The rider is attired in typical pony express costume and is said to have received enthusiastic receptions in every town he has visited. At the end of the trip he will compare the time consumed with the more modern means of mail delivery, via train, airplane and motor truck. Among the towns he will visit on the trip are Salem, Lisbon, Canton, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Youngstown, Warren and Ravenna.

Girl Weds Three Times, But Fails To Get Divorce

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Three husbands within a year—without divorcing any of them.

This was the charge against pretty, bobbed-haired Virginia Gorham, 21-year-old telephone girl, today, awaiting arraignment on the complaint of Harry Rosenberg, who says he is husband No. 3.

Virginia left Adams two weeks after they were married and disappeared, Rosenberg charged.

MISS RUTH GRUBB IS AUTO VICTIM

Miss Ruth Grubb, 20, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Grubb, formerly of East Liverpool, is in the Lakeside hospital at Cleveland, in a serious condition today as the result of injuries sustained when run down by an automobile.

Miss Grubb was standing on a street corner waiting for a trolley car when a machine hurtled the curb and struck her.

Gen. Sherwood, 90, Restless, But Shows Slight Improvement

TOLEDO, Oct. 14.—Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, 90-year-old Civil war veteran and statesman, who is lying critically ill at his home, suffering from pernicious anemia, was reported to have spent another restless night, but showed a slight improvement this morning.

Physicians, however, still maintain, that he is in a hopeless condition.

James Sherwood, the general's only son, also is seriously ill at his home in Ravenna, and is unable to be at the bedside of his father.

Protestant Episcopal House of Bishops to Name Primate

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church today was to elect a presiding bishop to serve for six years as the first primate elected by the church. The election will be subject to ratification by the house of deputies.

The voting will be principally on the names of eight prelates nominated at an executive session of the bishops but voting is not limited to those nominated. The bishops nominated for the primacy are Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, bishop of western New York; Right Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, bishop of Tennessee; Right Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of Maryland; Right Rev. Edward L. Parsons, bishop of California; Right Rev. William Cabell Brown, bishop of Virginia; Right Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of Pittsburgh; Right Rev. James Dewolf Perry, bishop of Rhode Island, and Right Rev. Hugh Latimer, missionary bishop of North Dakota.

Among delegates there was much discussion today of the possibilities of a deadlock between the forces supporting the principals, notably Bishops Gailor and Brent.

Endorsement of the permanent court of international justice, an unfavorable report by the committee on canons on a resolution which would have given bishops the sole authority to authorize the marriage of divorced persons, receiving for consideration a memorial protesting against the remarriage of any divorced persons and extended debates on alterations to the prayer book featured yesterday's sessions of the house of deputies.

Bettis Now Ace of U. S. Airmen

Army and navy aviators now salute Lieut. Cyrus J. Bettis (above), army, as premier U. S. pilot. He shattered three racing records in the Pulitzer international trophy race at Mitchell Field, L. I., and knocked Lieut. Al Williams of navy, idol of other meets, loose from all his laurels save those of speed champion.

Mrs. Joe Devine, beaming upon all and sundry. Devine is one of the Pittsburgh scouts, the one who discovered Kremer and brought him into the Pirate fold, and therefore a gentleman who has a right to be pleased on his own account.

Nervous After Game.

Mrs. Kremer, an attractive young woman in a stunning costume of black and pansy, with a black hat, was also present, as was lovely little Betty Kremer, the pitcher's eight-year-old daughter. "What do you think of your daddy?" I asked this gray eyed miss, and her answer, "I think he's fine!" was delivered in a manner that left no doubt about it whatsoever.

I begged Kremer to tell how he felt during that crucial moment in the ninth inning when Pittsburgh's one-run lead was threatened by the appearance at the plate of Messrs. Goslin, Joe Harris and Judge in rapid succession. Goslin and Joe Harris, as all the world knows, have made three home runs each during this series. Judge has made one. You'll have to agree that the combination looked extremely formidable and perilous, and might have frightened a less doughty moundsman almost out of his spiked shoes. But Kremer says he was not frightened. Not until later. "After the game," he said, smiling, "I was so nervous I couldn't even autograph the balls they brought into the club house. But at the time I was feeling fairly cool." In other words—words less grammatical but more expressive — Mr. Kremer "seen his duty and he done it."

This was his first world series, incidentally. And since it's going to be the thing hereafter to know all about him, I might add that he was born 29 years ago in Oakland, California, where he still lives; that he is of French extraction, as his first name, Remy, suggests, and that he is now playing his second year of ball for Pittsburgh. I'd like to bet that it won't be his last, but who in the world would bet with me?

No story dealing with the sixth game of the 1925 series can omit mention of Eddie Moore, the Pirate second baseman, who made the never-to-be-forgotten home run in the fifth. So I'm going to tell you a little anecdote that was told to me by one of the numerous newspaper correspondents. This man, passing the Pittsburgh dugout before the game, saw Eddie Moore with actual tears in his eyes. He said he had hurt his hand.

"Does it hurt that bad?" asked the correspondent.

Eddie registered scorn. "I'm not bawling because it hurts!" he said emphatically. "I'm just afraid I'm not going to be able to hit."

Donahue Jewels Valued at $450,000, Returned to Police

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Donahue jewels have been returned but the mystery of this great gem theft remained more baffling than ever today.

The $450,000 string of rose-tinted pearls, once owned by the royal household of Persia, and other jewels stolen from the dressing table of Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late F. W. Woolworth, are now under lock and key in police headquarters. While the city detective force was endeavoring to trace the $683,000 worth of gems, an insurance company detective walked into headquarters and delivered up the gems which disappeared on September 30 while Mrs. Donahue was bathing in her apartment at the Plaza hotel.

The jewels are back but the search for the thieves goes on according to the police.

U. S. Will Wield Credit Club to Get Debt From Europe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The American government has decided finally to use the big club of international credit to bring its quibbling debtors to the treasury window to take up their notes.

This, in effect, is what lay behind the blunt warning that has gone out from the White House to the world in general, and to Paris in particular, that American purse strings are to be closed to those nations that are evading and denying their plain obligations to the United States.

Cleveland Combed For Alleged Slayer Of Federal Agent

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Cleveland police combed the city today for Martin J. Durkin, alleged murderer of Edward C. Shanahan, Chicago federal agent, who was shot and killed Sunday when he attempted to arrest Durkin for of an automobile, it was said.

Chicago detectives, searching the sand dune country of Indiana with tear bombs and rifles, said they believe the fugitive boarded a train for Cleveland.

Cleveland police were warned that the man is dangerous and heavily armed.

U. S. Senator Ralston Unconscious; May Die Before Night

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana may not live through the day, it became known this morning.

His condition, already precarious, became alarmingly critical over night.

"Senator Ralston has been unconscious since midnight and his condition is very grave indeed,' said Frederick Van Nuys, one of Ralston's law partners here.

Ralston is 68 years old.

Man Killed When His Auto and Truck Crash Near Ashland

ASHLAND, Oct. 14.—Frank Baum, 35, of Ashland, was dead today, the result of a collision between an auto and a dairy truck late last night on the Lincoln highway, two miles southwest of Ashland.

Baum, driving the car, had his brain crushed by the steering rod of his machine. The other driver was unhurt.

WIN NEXT WAR IN AIR—SIMS

Rear Admiral Warns National Defense is Suffering.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The next great world war will be won through "command of the air," Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, at one time a storm center of naval controversies, told the president's air board today.

Sims warned that America's national defense was suffering because of the loss of morale in the air services.

The navy, Sims charged, has no "air policy." He also declared the recent inquiry held by the navy department to determine the value of aviation was an "investigation in a circle."

"The secretary of the navy came back from a speaking tour in the west and appointed a board to make the investigation," Sims said.

"On that same day he announced a battleship was the backbone of the fleet. The general board met and reported that the battleship is the backbone of the fleet. That investigation could get no where and it did not."

Sims declared that the navy department was "violating every fundamental principle of military command" in its treatment of aviation. As a result, he added, the morale of the air service has been destroyed.

a stretcher and lifted him into the electric chair, where he was soon paralyzed, from the head down.

When he wakes up, as he probably believed that he would do, in a better, happier world, he will have an interesting story to tell about this earth and how it does things.

It is said New York bankers have refused a $100,000,000 private loan to France, although all details of the loan were arranged, the bankers acting under government orders or suggestion.

Government ability to control private loans constitutes a powerful weapon these days.

Lady Cynthia Moseley discovers that the Labor party includes "cultured individuals" and "really intelligent, delightful people." The "upper classes" would make many interesting discoveries, if they could go up a little higher in the social scale and investigate those that do the work.

They would even find, to their surprise, that many of the upper classes descend from the laboring class.

Be careful about little things. Sigmund Breitbart, called the strongest man in Germany, bent iron bars with his hands, tore horseshoes apart, held two horses pulling against each other. He scratched himself with his nail, blood poison developed, he's dead. The germs too small to be seen with a microscope are stronger than any man. Such germs are usually on our hands.

Extreme radicals among French workers organize a 24 hour strike, the protest of the proletariat against the war in Morocco.

French workmen, however, possess a knowledge of public affairs and of history, something lacking in this country.

It doesn't take a great deal of knowledge to realize that any class, proletarian or capitalistic, that fails to support its nation in war, will regret his foolishness.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER COMING

Joseph W. Irwin Will Arrive Here at Noon Saturday.

Joseph William Irwin, III, said to be a direct descendant of one of the original pony express riders, who carried mail in the West before the Civil war, will arrive here at noon Saturday on his 600-mile journey through eastern and northern Ohio, in pony express style.

Irwin, who is a member of the Black Horse Troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohio National Guard, left Cleveland last week on his journey which will require a little more than two weeks. The entire trip will be made on horseback and the rider will carry letters from mayors, postmasters and newspaper editors in cities and towns through which he passes.

The rider is attired in typical pony express costume and is said to have received enthusiastic receptions in every town he has visited. At the end of the trip he will compare the time consumed with the more modern means of mail delivery, via train, airplane and motor truck. Among the towns he will visit on the trip are Salem, Lisbon, Canton, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Youngstown, Warren and Ravenna.

Girl Weds Three Times, But Fails To Get Divorce

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Three husbands within a year—without divorcing any of them.

This was the charge against pretty, bobbed-haired Virginia Gorham, 21-year-old telephone girl, today, awaiting arraignment on the complaint of Harry Rosenberg, who says he is husband No. 3.

Virginia was living alone when detectives arrested her.

Gen. Sherwood, 90, Restless, But Shows Slight Improvement

TOLEDO, Oct. 14.—Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, 90-year-old Civil war veteran and statesman, who is lying critically ill at his home, suffering from pernicious anemia, was reported to have spent another restless night, but showed a slight improvement this morning.

Physicians, however, still maintain, that he is in a hopeless condition.

Mrs. Joe Devine, beaming upon all and sundry. Devine is one of the Pittsburgh scouts, the one who discovered Kremer and brought him into the Pirate fold, and therefore a gentleman who has a right to be pleased on his own account.

Nervous After Game.

Mrs. Kremer, an attractive young woman in a stunning costume of black and pansy, with a black hat, was also present, as was lovely little Betty Kremer, the pitcher's eight-year-old daughter. "What do you think of your daddy?" I asked this gray eyed miss, and her answer, "I think he's fine!" was delivered in a manner that left no doubt about it whatsoever.

I begged Kremer to tell how he felt during that crucial moment in the ninth inning when Pittsburgh's one-run lead was threatened by the appearance at the plate of Messrs. Goslin, Joe Harris and Judge in rapid succession. Goslin and Joe Harris, as all the world knows, have made three home runs each during this series. Judge has made one. You'll have to agree that the combination looked extremely formidable and perilous, and might have frightened a less doughty moundsman almost out of his spiked shoes. But Kremer says he was not frightened. Not until later. "After the game," he said, smiling, "I was so nervous I couldn't even autograph the balls they brought into the club house. But at the time I was feeling fairly cool." In other words—words less grammatical but more expressive — Mr. Kremer "seen his duty and he done it."

This was his first world series, incidentally. And since it's going to be the thing hereafter to know all about him, I might add that he was born 29 years ago in Oakland, California, where he still lives; that he is of French extraction, as his first name, Remy, suggests, and that he is now playing his second year of ball for Pittsburgh. I'd like to bet that it won't be his last, but who in the world would bet with me?

No story dealing with the sixth game of the 1925 series can omit mention of Eddie Moore, the Pirate second baseman, who made the never-to-be-forgotten home run in the fifth. So I'm going to tell you a little anecdote that was told to me by one of the numerous newspaper correspondents. This man, passing the Pittsburgh dugout before the game, saw Eddie Moore with actual tears in his eyes. He said he had hurt his hand.

"Does it hurt that bad?" asked the correspondent.

Eddie registered scorn. "I'm not bawling because it hurts!" he said emphatically. "I'm just afraid I'm not going to be able to hit."

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church today was to elect a presiding bishop to serve for six years as the first primate elected by the church. The election will be subject to ratification by the house of deputies.

The voting will be principally on the names of eight prelates nominated at an executive session of the bishops but voting is not limited to those nominated. The bishops nominated for the primacy are Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, bishop of western New York; Right Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, bishop of Tennessee; Right Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of Maryland; Right Rev. Edward L. Parsons, bishop of California; Right Rev. William Cabell Brown, bishop of Virginia; Right Rev. Alexander Mann, bishop of Pittsburgh; Right Rev. James Dewolf Perry, bishop of Rhode Island, and Right Rev. Hugh Latimer, missionary bishop of North Dakota.

Among delegates there was much discussion today of the possibilities of a deadlock between the forces supporting the principals, notably Bishops Gailor and Brent.

Endorsement of the permanent court of international justice, an unfavorable report by the committee on canons on a resolution which would have given bishops the sole authority to authorize the marriage of divorced persons, receiving for consideration a memorial protesting against the remarriage of any divorced persons and extended debates on alterations to the prayer book featured yesterday's sessions of the house of deputies.

Donahue Jewels, Valued at $450,000, Returned to Police

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Donahue jewels have been returned but the mystery of this great gem theft remained more baffling than ever today.

The $450,000 string of rose-tinted pearls, once owned by the royal household of Persia, and other jewels stolen from the dressing table of Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late F. W. Woolworth, are now under lock and key in police headquarters. While the city detective force was endeavoring to trace the $683,000 worth of gems, an insurance company detective walked into headquarters and delivered up the gems which disappeared on September 30 while Mrs. Donahue was bathing in her apartment at the Plaza hotel.

The jewels are back but the search for the thieves goes on according to the police.

U. S. Will Wield Credit Club to Get Debt From Europe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The American government has decided finally to use the big club of international credit to bring its quibbling debtors to the treasury window to take up their notes.

This, in effect, is what lay behind the blunt warning that has gone out from the White House to the world in general, and to Paris in particular, that American purse strings are to be closed to those nations that are evading and denying their plain obligations to the United States.

Cleveland Combed For Alleged Slayer Of Federal Agent

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Cleveland police combed the city today for Martin J. Durkin, alleged murderer of Edward C. Shanahan, Chicago federal agent, who was shot and killed Sunday when he attempted to arrest Durkin for of an automobile, it was said.

Ralston is 68 years old.

It marks the climax of 15 years of square dealing and earnest endeavor to serve customers as they should be served. The new store, with it's greatly increased floor space and up-to-the-minute furnishings, now makes it possible for Mr. Rubin to give that efficient and satisfactory service to his patrons tha he had long anticipated but never before been able to accomplish.

The newly remodeled store is a credit to not only Mr. Rubn, the owner, but to East Liverpool as well. It is most complete in its appointments, attractive in appearance, conveniently arranged, one of the most beautiful stores of its kind in the State of Ohio, and displaying the largest and most complete stocks of any jewelry store in this vicinity.

You Are Invited

Mr. Rubin is quite proud of his new home and its complete new stocks of reliable Jewelry, Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Silverware, etc., and extends to everyone in East Liverpool and vicinity a most hearty invitation to join with him in the Opening Tomorrow (Thursday) Evening, between the hours of seven and nine. He promises that nothing will be left undone to make your visit a most pleasant one.

HALLMARK STORE

Membership in the Hallmark Association of one Jeweler in over 800 cities gives this store a wonderful buying prestige and purchasing advantage in the finer jewelry markets of the country. This is reflected to you in fair prices on better quality jewelry. In fact, a Hallmark membership means to a store the same as Sterling means to silver.

The Creed Mr. Rubin Has Followed—And to Success

He believes that the existence of any institution, ranging anywhere from the largest public welfare to the smallest retail store, must necessarily depend upon the support and good will of those for whom it functions. It is, therefore, not through any philanthropic or sentimental motive but rather through a sane and sound business policy that the efforts of Mr. Rubin have been directed towards the establishment of the most favorable and friendly relations between himself and his patrons. This he has accomplished in the following manner:

1.—By a prompt and cheerful righting of all wrongs in the way of exchanging any article which has been found unsatisfactory, thus standing firmly behind every article which leaves his store.

2.—By setting one unchangeable price, and by clearly marking every article with that price, he has established a system of fair treatment to all.

That Mr. Rubin's Merchandise is of the Reliable Kind—Is Proven by the Well-Known Standard Makes He Features—Namely—

Fogo's Skull Not Fractured, X-Ray Shows.

Paul Fogo, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fogo, of Broadway, this morning was said to be recovering from injuries he sustained yesterday at the C. & P. shops here when he was struck on the right side of his head by an eight-pound sledge.

An X-ray of the injury, according to relatives, revealed the fact that his skull was not fractured. His right ear, however, was badly lacerated, and, it is thought, may have really prevented a fracture.

Young Fogo, who is an electric welder, was working on an engine, it is said, near a group of other employes who were driving a flue. One of the men was wielding a sledge. On a swing of the big hammer the head flew off and struck Fogo. Another employe grasped the injured man and saved him from a fall from the locomotive.

Pair Unable to Say Farewell Before Death

Budapest, Hungary.—With five minutes to say good-by before their death, allowed by the court, Mitzi Lederer and her husband, Gustav, a former lieutenant, choking with anguish and blinded by tears, were unable to say a single word. They had been convicted of the murder and dismemberment of the owner of a sausage factory, Frank Kudelka, who was visiting the couple in a suburb of Budapest. The two embraced in a final meeting while the presiding judge held a watch. "You have five minutes," he said. "Four—three—two—one, and now no more time to bid each other good-by." The man and wife were parted and immediately executed.

BLOSSOM TIME COMING HERE

Schubert Operetta is Booked by Ceramic.

The Schubert operetta, "Blossom Time," based on the life of Franz Schubert, with Schubert's own music, which the Messrs. Shubert will present in this city in the near future, has the distinction of holding the long run record for musical plays in every city in which it has been presented.

Starting with New York, where "Blossom Time" was originally presented, it ran for more than two years, with an extra engagement of several months when the New York and Chicago companies were brought back to New York for simultaneous engagements at the Shubert and Forty-fourth street theaters. In Chicago, where "Blossom Time" established its second record, it ran for 66 weeks. Philadelphia audiences paid homage to Schubert's music for a period of 37 weeks, while audiences in Boston crowded the theater where "Blossom Time" was running for another 20 weeks.

In other cities which are regularly regarded as one week stands, "Blossom Time" played for two and even three weeks without any pronounced decline in attendance and in many of these instances the famous romance of youth and love was returned at later dates for further engagements.

"Blossom Time's" farewell engagement will be at the Ceramic theater Wednesday night, October 21.

Wheat Replaces Rice As Staple Food Both In China and Japan

TORONTO — After thousands of years spent in wielding the chopsticks, John Chinamen and the Japanese are losing their taste for rice and are now competing with other countries for the world's supply of wheat, according to wheat brokers.

Millions of tons are shipped to the Orient annually from Canada nowadays, and this is reflected in the fact that flour mills and wheat elevators are springing up all along the Pacific coast and Canada.

"The revolution in taste of the Orient is one of the most remarkable facts of the changing modern world," said a leading wheat authority. "Today the Oriental prefers wheat to rice."

"The following figures will confirm this. In 1924 China took 5,206,820 bushels of wheat and 504,923 barrels of flour, while Japan took 7,058,910 bushels of wheat and 111,965 barrels of flour. Compare this with 1914. In that year Canada's export of wheat to China was nil. In 1910 Canada exported exactly eight bushels of flour to Japan."

During a nine-week season of English opera in London this year 180,000 people attended the performances.

BACK OF A GOOD NAME

Rarely in manufacturing history has a name entrenched itself so firmly in the confidence of the entire world as the name Dodge Brothers.

Everywhere and to everyone this name means but one thing: a product built honestly of the best available materials and sold at a just price.

Behind this product, this price and this enviable reputation lie certain impressive and fundamental facts.

So important is a knowledge of these facts to the motor car buyer that Dodge Brothers, Inc., have determined to publish them, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth. A few of these essentials, outlined above, go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

INJURED YOUTH WILL RECOVER

Fogo's Skull Not Fractured, X-Ray Shows

Paul Fogo, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fogo, of Broadway, this morning was said to be recovering from injuries he sustained yesterday at the C. & P. shops here when he was struck on the right side of his head by an eight-pound sledge.

An X-ray of the injury, according to relatives, revealed the fact that his skull was not fractured. His right ear, however, was badly lacerated, and, it is thought, may have really prevented a fracture.

Young Fogo, who is an electric welder, was working on an engine, it is said, near a group of other employes who were driving a flue. One of the men was wielding a sledge. On a swing of the big hammer the head flew off and struck Fogo. Another employe grasped the injured man and saved him from a fall from the locomotive.

McKechnie and Harris Today Face Crisis Clash In Series

"Big Money" Pitchers Will be Called Upon to Hurl "Big Money" Game, Says Walsh, Who Avers "Nickle Pitchers" Won't do Now; Oldham, Morrison and Ruether Mentioned as Other Possibilities.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—On the verge of a vast hysteria such as few towns have known, except as an aftermath of great good fortune or a great tragedy, Pittsburgh arose from a restless cot this morning to face the world series crisis. Paris, for instannce, knew the same symptoms after the armistice and Johnstown after the flood, but Pittsburgh was getting hers before the seventh and show down down game of the 1925 world series between the Senators and the Pirates and her symptoms were those of unease, not of certainty.

It was to be the big money game of the event and according to the best advices a couple of big money pitchers, Walter Johnson and Vic Aldridge, were to pitch it.

The day of the showdown found the sky overcast and the rival managers down to nickel pitchers were only million dollar men would do. It made not the slightest difference that both of the latter had been pitched flat footed in winning two games each. Aldridge was under the gun with a single day's rest, while Johnson was limping from a torn muscle in his thigh, but the hottest kind of a tip was that they once more would carry the banner regardless.

You don't use a nickel pitcher when $2,000, the difference between the winners 'and losers' share, rides on every ball and a populace has lost all sense of control. You use your million dollars worth cheerfully, even though some of it has been squandered when the series was adolescent, spent indeed when the series was quite young, for youth must have its fling.

There are other possibilities mentioned, to wit: Oldham and Morrison, of Pittsburgh, and Dutch Ruether, of Washington, but neither of the former were physical millionaires, so to speak, and the writer's understanding of Ruether was that he has yet to pitch a single ball in the series and probably would do slightly less than that today.

Granting this to be true, there were none left but the two great right handers and their meeting would mean that the ultimate survivor would equal the record held jointly by Mathewson, Babe Adams, Jack Coombs and Coveleskie, by winning three games in a world series.

Pittsburgh favored Aldridge and perforce, the Pirates at odds of 6 to 5, in spite of the fact that Vic was out from under the blankets no later than 48 hours ago, but Pittsburgh can do no less.

It had seen its ball club enact a modern miracle between sunrise on Monday and senset on Tuesday. It had seen the Pirates fight back to a 3 to 3 deadlock and the chance of a young lifetime from a position in which all hope had fled.

On Monday morning, the Senators needed only a single victory to come into their second title. They haven't got it yet.

Pittsburgh, therefore, might be pardoned what some might term a lack of civic dignity today. There was nothing to condone, as a matter of fact. The town simply left out one wild, piercing scream as the final man was retired yesterday, leaped high into the air and forgot to come down.

Long lines, gibbering at one another and at no one in particular, formed at the club box offices in something comparative only to the split second, and in less than 5½ hours, some 35,000 tickets had been sold. The rest of the populace, still muttering in its beard, prattled off into the night and was at it when the dawn of another day came.

Newsboys were shouting the glad tidings in the darkness of very early morning and snatches of ribald song filled the air. There have been only two towns that have known such hysteria over a world series and one of them is known as Pittsburgh, Pa. The other was Washington, D. C., on the night of the final game last year.

Both are entitled to it. Both didn't care whether they were or not. They first made sure they were right and then went ahead. And, if the Pirates win today, Pittsburgh will do more than go ahead. It will go amuck.

Perhaps some of its citizens are thumbing back through the pages of time to 1903 and taking a mental look at the skeleton in their family closet. If so, their anticipation of what the afternoon may bring will be all the more intense.

It was in 1903 that the old Pirates of Hans Wagner blasted their way into a world series with the Boston Red Sox and won three of the first four games, just as Washington did in the present series. But the Red Sox came back, won three straight, took the series and caused great loss of life here, officials dragging the Allegheny river for days in a futile search for men who had simply rushed into the solitude of the open country to be alone with their grief.

It would be passing sweet to the local palate if the 1925 Pirates could do to the Senators what the Red Sox did to the old favorites in 1903.

EVENS BATTLE COUNT

'Covey' Wins Title of Greatest Hard-Luck Pitcher In Baseball

Failure of Stanley Coveleskie to turn in at least two victories for the Washington club in the world's series must be disappointing to Coveleskie, of course. It is equally as disappointing to those who have followed Covey through his major league career.

And yet they rather expected such discouraging results.

For Coveleskie's baseball life has been replete with such "hard luck" games. But one period stands out in his career to cheer him up. That was the world's series of 1920, when he stepped to the mound three times against the Brooklyn Dodgers and three times turned them back helpless as bush leaguers against his baffling spitball.

But day in and day out, while pitching the best part of his baseball life for Cleveland, Coveleskie worked against a hoodoo.

The team would go on a hitting rampage for days. Would give any pitcher who happened to work a margin of from two to half a dozen runs on which to rest. Then would come Covey's day on the mound.

For some unknown reason the team's leading sluggers would develop a sudden case of buck fever, stage fright, paralysis or something like that, and proceed to hit about the size of the ordinary lunch counter check.

Covey would pitch his heart out, only to find himself beaten because his own teammates could give him no more than one or two little runs.

So it was in the second game of the world's series. It was a typical Covey game. Ed Bang, Cleveland sport authority and one of Covey's staunchest admirers, remarked as the game started: "If this is one of his usual hard luck games you can figure on the Pirates to win. Covey will pitch good ball, but it won't mean anything."

True enough.

Then came his second start against the Pirates. He was hammered in that second start. But had he come through that first game with the victory he deserved he would have had a stauncher heart.

Covey will go down in history first, as one of the greatest pitchers in the game.

Third, as one of the few immortals to win three games in a world's series.

CANTON - AKRON CLASH SUNDAY

Hogan, Ex-Toronto Star, Signs Bulldog Contract.

CANTON, Oct. 14.—After suffering two defeats in two days the Canton Bulldogs return to their home field this Sunday to tackle the Akron Professionals, who are tied with Detroit for the leadership of the National Professional Football league.

Canton tried the difficult feat of playing two games in two days, but they were beaten both times. Philadelphia Yellow Jackets administered the first setback last Saturday by a 12-7 score, while the next day Pottsville, Pa., beat the Kennel 28-0, the worst setback that the Bulldogs have suffered in many seasons.

As a result of the two games the Dogs are all crippled up. Harry Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs, while Pete Henry has a deep cut over his left eye, three stitches being necessary. Culver and Robb had to be carried from last Sunday's game exhausted.

Several new players will probably be added to the Bulldog roster in time for Sunday's engagement. Paul Hogan, former Washington and Jefferson and Detroit U. star, accompanied the Bulldogs on their eastern journey and signed a Canton contract on his return here. He was a member of the Akron team in 1924.

World's Series Home Run Record Broken

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The world series home run record was broken yesterday when Moore and Goslin hit four sackers, the previous record having been 10, being set by the Yankees and Giants in 1923.

The record for this series is:

Third game—Goslin.

Fourth game—Goslin, Joe Harris.

Fifth game—Joe Harris.

Sixth game—Goslin, Moore.

Last Night's Fights

The fans tendered Sam Rice the Bronx cheer every time he showed his head above the level of the dugout. Mr. Rice, you know, caught that ball that was caught or wasn't caught in the third game at Washington and the boys here thought he ought to be chided for his slick, city ways.

FAST STRUTHERS TEAM NEXT FOE FOR HIGHS; M'KIM OUT FOR SEASON

Plucky Guard Sustains Broken Shoulder in Clash at Chester; Bough, Shaffer and Heddleston, However, are Expected to be Back in Uniform Saturday; Mahoning Countians Show Class in Early Contests.

A recapitulation of football resources by Coach O. V. Boone, mentor of the Blue and White, as the squad shapes up its forces for the important clash here Saturday with Struthers, reveals the fact that the 12-0 victory over Chester last Saturday was well paid for, inasmuch as Guard McKim, who has been rubbing shoulders in the line with Dick Larkins ever since the season started, will be lost for the remainder of the season.

The outlook for the Struthers engagement at Patterson Field would be even more glum than that of last week, with McKim's loss, were it not for the possibility that last week's "patients," Shaffer, Heddleston and Bough, will likely be back in action Saturday. All three of these lads were out in uniform yesterday afternoon, their injuries apparently having come around all right in the week or more in which they have been resting.

Boone's forces will have to call upon their full strength for the Struthers clash—there's little doubt of that. Struthers opened up its new stadium this season with a 7-7 tie against Salem, and the Columbiana countians, by the way, are no push-overs this year. Struthers scored early in the game on a blocked kick, and Salem, in the last few minutes of play, sent Coffee around end on a 65-yard run for the touchdown that knotted the figures.

Last year Struthers, on home territory, trimmed the Blue and White by a 13-7 reckoning. The Mahoning countians, perhaps, can aptly be classed with New Philadelphia, and New Philly, it will be remembered, showed a winning brand of football here a couple of weeks ago.

This is the greatest casualty series of all time. Lee Meadows has a sore arm. So, they say, has Dutch Ruether. Stanley Harris has a sore hand. So has Eddie Moore, and there will be plenty of sore heads about just as soon as one club or the other loses the series.

They voted Peckinpaugh the most valuable player in the American league and then he turned around and became the least valuable player in the Washington ball club. Peck's shortstopping in this series has been woeful, no less.

CHICAGO CUBS WIN CITY TITLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The National league Cubs won the city championship yesterday in the presence of their new boss, Joe McCarthy, defeating the White Sox, 7 to 4.

The contest was the last for George Gibson as manager, but it marked the first city championship in three years for the Bruins. The first game of the set went 19 innings to a two-all deadlock. The Sox took but one of the six games played.

DREYFUS READY TO SELL, REPORT

Pittsburgh Syndicate Named in Latest Rumors.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—The report that Barney Dreyfus has sold the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the National league, to a syndicate of local men was revived today as the team clashed with the Washington Senators in a contest that was to decide the 1925 world series.

Latest reports of the syndicate which is supposed to have purchased the Pirates indicated that its members were Joseph Trees, millionaire oil magnate, State Senator John Harris, Pittsburgh; Henry Townsend, president of the Pittsburgh hockey club, and State Senator James Coyne, of Pittsburgh.

Other rumors, all of which have failed of confirmation, linked the name of Fred Clarke, assistant manager of the Pirates, with the reported new owners of the club.

Those who professed to have inside knowledge of the deal said Dreyfus agreed to sell after winning his second National league pennant in sixteen years.

It would seem that, with the Senatorial infield as shaky as it has been the Pirates have overlooked a bet in not doing more bunting. They even forbore with young Buddy Myer at third base. Another tip would be to bunt against Walter Johnson today. Provided his leg happens to be as badly injured as they say it is.

Tagging The Bases

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 14.—Perhaps the records will show that some other player-manager in a world series effaced himself for a pinch hitter but we think not. Stanley Harris is given to doing unique things and most of the time he is right.

In another instance, he was wrong. That was when he sent McNeely down to steal in the eighth when he needed a run to tie. That was being very extravagant with very little to spend. However, McNeely got away with it.

Eddie Moore's single and homer were long overdue, Edward having been in a prolonged slump. He selected an excellent moment to snap out of it.

Ferguson uncoupled the wildest pitch of this or any other series with two strikes on Wright but the latter did not molest it. All he had to do was to swing and run, if he wanted to get on base very cheaply.

Kremer had much more stuff than Ferguson but the latter managed to stick around until they erased him with a pinch hitter in the eighth.

McKechnie and Harris Today Face Crisis Clash In Series

"Big Money" Pitchers Will be Called Upon to Hurl "Big Money" Game, Says Walsh, Who Avers "Nickle Pitchers" Won't do Now; Oldham, Morrison and Ruether Mentioned as Other Possibilities.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—On the verge of a vast hysteria such as few towns have known, except as an aftermath of great good fortune or a great tragedy, Pittsburgh arose from a restless cot this morning to face the world series crisis. Paris, for instannce, knew the same symptoms after the armistice and Johnstown after the flood, but Pittsburgh was getting hers before the seventh and show down down game of the 1925 world series between the Senators and the Pirates and her symptoms were those of unease, not of certainty.

It was to be the big money game of the event and according to the best advices a couple of big money pitchers, Walter Johnson and Vic Aldridge, were to pitch it.

The day of the showdown found the sky overcast and the rival managers down to nickel pitchers were only million dollar men would do. It made not the slightest difference that both of the latter had been pitched flat footed in winning two games each. Aldridge was under the gun with a single day's rest, while Johnson was limping from a torn muscle in his thigh, but the hottest kind of a tip was that they once more would carry the banner regardless.

You don't use a nickel pitcher when $2,000, the difference between the winners 'and losers' share, rides on every ball and a populace has lost all sense of control. You use your million dollars worth cheerfully, even though some of it has been squandered when the series was adolescent, spent indeed when the series was quite young, for youth must have its fling.

There are other possibilities mentioned, to wit: Oldham and Morrison, of Pittsburgh, and Dutch Ruether, of Washington, but neither of the former were physical millionaires, so to speak, and the writer's understanding of Ruether was that he has yet to pitch a single ball in the series and probably would do slightly less than that today.

Granting this to be true, there were none left but the two great right handers and their meeting would mean that the ultimate survivor would equal the record held jointly by Mathewson, Babe Adams, Jack Coombs and Coveleskie, by winning three games in a world series.

Pittsburgh favored Aldridge and perforce, the Pirates at odds of 6 to 5, in spite of the fact that Vic was out from under the blankets no later than 48 hours ago, but Pittsburgh can do no less.

It had seen its ball club enact a modern miracle between sunrise on Monday and senset on Tuesday. It had seen the Pirates fight back to a 3 to 3 deadlock and the chance of a young lifetime from a position in which all hope had fled.

On Monday morning, the Senators needed only a single victory to come into their second title. They haven't got it yet.

Pittsburgh, therefore, might be pardoned what some might term a lack of civic dignity today. There was nothing to condone, as a matter of fact. The town simply left out one wild, piercing scream as the final man was retired yesterday, leaped high into the air and forgot to come down.

Long lines, gibbering at one another and at no one in particular, formed at the club box offices in something comparative only to the split second, and in less than 5½ hours, some 35,000 tickets had been sold. The rest of the populace, still muttering in its beard, prattled off into the night and was at it when the dawn of another day came.

Newsboys were shouting the glad tidings in the darkness of very early morning and snatches of ribald song filled the air. There have been only two towns that have known such hysteria over a world series and one of them is known as Pittsburgh, Pa. The other was Washington, D. C., on the night of the final game last year.

Both are entitled to it. Both didn't care whether they were or not. They first made sure they were right and then went ahead. And, if the Pirates win today, Pittsburgh will do more than go ahead. It will go amuck.

Perhaps some of its citizens are thumbing back through the pages of time to 1903 and taking a mental look at the skeleton in their family closet. If so, their anticipation of what the afternoon may bring will be all the more intense.

It was in 1903 that the old Pirates of Hans Wagner blasted their way into a world series with the Boston Red Sox and won three of the first four games, just as Washington did in the present series. But the Red Sox came back, won three straight, took the series and caused great loss of life here, officials dragging the Allegheny river for days in a futile search for men who had simply rushed into the solitude of the open country to be alone with their grief.

It would be passing sweet to the local palate if the 1925 Pirates could do to the Senators what the Red Sox did to the old favorites in 1903.

EVENS BATTLE COUNT

'Covey' Wins Title of Greatest Hard-Luck Pitcher In Baseball

Failure of Stanley Coveleskie to turn in at least two victories for the Washington club in the world's series must be disappointing to Coveleskie, of course. It is equally as disappointing to those who have followed Covey through his major league career.

And yet they rather expected such discouraging results.

For Coveleskie's baseball life has been replete with such "hard luck" games. But one period stands out in his career to cheer him up. That was the world's series of 1920, when he stepped to the mound three times against the Brooklyn Dodgers and three times turned them back helpless as bush leaguers against his baffling spitball.

But day in and day out, while pitching the best part of his baseball life for Cleveland, Coveleskie worked against a hoodoo.

The team would go on a hitting rampage for days. Would give any pitcher who happened to work a margin of from two to half a dozen runs on which to rest. Then would come Covey's day on the mound.

For some unknown reason the team's leading sluggers would develop a sudden case of buck fever, stage fright, paralysis or something like that, and proceed to hit about the size of the ordinary lunch counter check.

Covey would pitch his heart out, only to find himself beaten because his own teammates could give him no more than one or two little runs.

So it was in the second game of the world's series. It was a typical Covey game. Ed Bang, Cleveland sport authority and one of Covey's staunchest admirers, remarked as the game started: "If this is one of his usual hard luck games you can figure on the Pirates to win. Covey will pitch good ball, but it won't mean anything."

True enough.

Then came his second start against the Pirates. He was hammered in that second start. But had he come through that first game with the victory he deserved he would have had a stauncher heart.

Covey will go down in history first, as one of the greatest pitchers in the game.

Third, as one of the few immortals to win three games in a world's series.

CANTON - AKRON CLASH SUNDAY

Hogan, Ex-Toronto Star, Signs Bulldog Contract.

CANTON, Oct. 14.—After suffering two defeats in two days the Canton Bulldogs return to their home field this Sunday to tackle the Akron Professionals, who are tied with Detroit for the leadership of the National Professional Football league.

Canton tried the difficult feat of playing two games in two days, but they were beaten both times. Philadelphia Yellow Jackets administered the first setback last Saturday by a 12-7 score, while the next day Pottsville, Pa., beat the Kennel 28-0, the worst setback that the Bulldogs have suffered in many seasons.

As a result of the two games the Dogs are all crippled up. Harry Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs, while Pete Henry has a deep cut over his left eye, three stitches being necessary. Culver and Robb had to be carried from last Sunday's game exhausted.

Several new players will probably be added to the Bulldog roster in time for Sunday's engagement. Paul Hogan, former Washington and Jefferson and Detroit U. star, accompanied the Bulldogs on their eastern journey and signed a Canton contract on his return here. He was a member of the Akron team in 1924.

World's Series Home Run Record Broken

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The world series home run record was broken yesterday when Moore and Goslin hit four sackers, the previous record having been 10, being set by the Yankees and Giants in 1923.

The record for this series is:

Third game—Goslin.

Fourth game—Goslin, Joe Harris.

Fifth game—Joe Harris.

Sixth game—Goslin, Moore.

Last Night's Fights

The fans tendered Sam Rice the Bronx cheer every time he showed his head above the level of the dugout. Mr. Rice, you know, caught that ball that was caught or wasn't caught in the third game at Washington and the boys here thought he ought to be chided for his slick, city ways.

FAST STRUTHERS TEAM NEXT FOE FOR HIGHS; M'KIM OUT FOR SEASON

Plucky Guard Sustains Broken Shoulder in Clash at Chester; Bough, Shaffer and Heddleston, However, are Expected to be Back in Uniform Saturday; Mahoning Countians Show Class in Early Contests.

A recapitulation of football resources by Coach O. V. Boone, mentor of the Blue and White, as the squad shapes up its forces for the important clash here Saturday with Struthers, reveals the fact that the 12-0 victory over Chester last Saturday was well paid for, inasmuch as Guard McKim, who has been rubbing shoulders in the line with Dick Larkins ever since the season started, will be lost for the remainder of the season.

The outlook for the Struthers engagement at Patterson Field would be even more glum than that of last week, with McKim's loss, were it not for the possibility that last week's "patients," Shaffer, Heddleston and Bough, will likely be back in action Saturday. All three of these lads were out in uniform yesterday afternoon, their injuries apparently having come around all right in the week or more in which they have been resting.

Boone's forces will have to call upon their full strength for the Struthers clash—there's little doubt of that. Struthers opened up its new stadium this season with a 7-7 tie against Salem, and the Columbiana countians, by the way, are no push-overs this year. Struthers scored early in the game on a blocked kick, and Salem, in the last few minutes of play, sent Coffee around end on a 65-yard run for the touchdown that knotted the figures.

Last year Struthers, on home territory, trimmed the Blue and White by a 13-7 reckoning. The Mahoning countians, perhaps, can aptly be classed with New Philadelphia, and New Philly, it will be remembered, showed a winning brand of football here a couple of weeks ago.

This is the greatest casualty series of all time. Lee Meadows has a sore arm. So, they say, has Dutch Ruether. Stanley Harris has a sore hand. So has Eddie Moore, and there will be plenty of sore heads about just as soon as one club or the other loses the series.

They voted Peckinpaugh the most valuable player in the American league and then he turned around and became the least valuable player in the Washington ball club. Peck's shortstopping in this series has been woeful, no less.

CHICAGO CUBS WIN CITY TITLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The National league Cubs won the city championship yesterday in the presence of their new boss, Joe McCarthy, defeating the White Sox, 7 to 4.

The contest was the last for George Gibson as manager, but it marked the first city championship in three years for the Bruins. The first game of the set went 19 innings to a two-all deadlock. The Sox took but one of the six games played.

FACTS ABOUT MAKING OF DEMILLE PHOTOPLAY, 'THE TEN COMMANDMENTS'

Spectacular Production Will Open Four-day Engagement at Ceramic on Wednesday.

Here are facts about the making of Cecile De Mille's spectacular photoplay, which opens a four-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Wednesday evening:

After eight months of preparation production was started in desert locales duplicating Israel's exodus from Egypt and stay in the Sinaitic Wilderness. More than 2,500 people were used in the Biblical scenes of the story. Means were found to represent Israel's dryshod passage of the Red Sea and the engulfing of the hosts of Pharo.

Among the engineering works accomplished were the Israelitish slave-built City of Rameses with twenty-four sphinxes and four colossi, also alongside it a modern Tent City with every public utility convenience to accommodate the working thongs; the conversion of the asphaltic bed of the Mojave dry lake into a racing ground for Pharoh's chariots; the construction of the Sinaitic canyon where Moses read the tablets of the Law and where subsequently three thousand idolaters were consumed by Heaven's wrath for the worship of the Golden Calf.

Before the play opened in New York, an extremely interesting exhibition of the actual costume designs, models and ornaments was held at the Hotel Astor. It was attended by hundreds of courtiers, fashioned designers, artists, illustrators and other professionally interested, as well as by the merely curious. In the wardrobe department of the production which these master models served, nearly 85,000 yards of cloth were made up into the clothing of the armies of people.

In the modern story advantage was taken of a great contemporary work of the new and stately Sts. Peter's and Paul's in the city of San Francisco. Many of the scenes were filmed atop the nave or high in the spirework of the rising Cathedral, with the Golden Gate and the Bay as the backgrounds. Scenes of wild storm and havoc were secured on the ocean. Even Chinatown yielded new secrets for the foreign quarter episode of the story.

Goslin first caused a vast oppression to settle upon the populace with his homer in the opening inning, his third of the season, then scared his boys out of their shoes by hitting five terrific fouls in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

This run, by the way, was where it was because of the longest drive of the series. It would have been a homer in any other spot but Joe Harris chose to hit it up against the screen in remote centerfield. The silence was deafening.

Prosperity Heralded In Soviet Russia By New Cigar Factory

MOSCOW.—Prosperity is heralded in Soviet Russia in wreaths of cigar smoke. For the first time since the revolution, a cigar factory, the Gaverneria, has opened and immediately was flooded with orders.

Until now a cigar was a sign of plethoric wealth in Russia, and a man who walked the streets with a stogie in his mouth was sure to be spotted as a bloated capitalist. Now the workers are the biggest smokers, and the Moscow trade unions alone ordered 25,000 of the new factory's first production.

Mexican growers of sisal, from which our binder twine is made, have just formed co-operative growing societies.

FACTS ABOUT MAKING OF DEMILLE PHOTOPLAY, 'THE TEN COMMANDMENTS'

Spectacular Production Will Open Four-day Engagement at Ceramic on Wednesday.

Here are facts about the making of Cecile De Mille's spectacular photoplay, which opens a four-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre Wednesday evening:

After eight months of preparation production was started in desert locales duplicating Israel's exodus from Egypt and stay in the Sinaitic Wilderness. More than 2,500 people were used in the Biblical scenes of the story. Means were found to represent Israel's dryshod passage of the Red Sea and the engulfing of the hosts of Pharo.

Among the engineering works accomplished were the Israelitish slave-built City of Rameses with twenty-four sphinxes and four colossi, also alongside it a modern Tent City with every public utility convenience to accommodate the working thongs; the conversion of the asphaltic bed of the Mojave dry lake into a racing ground for Pharoh's chariots; the construction of the Sinaitic canyon where Moses read the tablets of the Law and where subsequently three thousand idolaters were consumed by Heaven's wrath for the worship of the Golden Calf.

Before the play opened in New York, an extremely interesting exhibition of the actual costume designs, models and ornaments was held at the Hotel Astor. It was attended by hundreds of courtiers, fashioned designers, artists, illustrators and other professionally interested, as well as by the merely curious. In the wardrobe department of the production which these master models served, nearly 85,000 yards of cloth were made up into the clothing of the armies of people.

In the modern story advantage was taken of a great contemporary work of the new and stately Sts. Peter's and Paul's in the city of San Francisco. Many of the scenes were filmed atop the nave or high in the spire-work of the rising Cathedral, with the Golden Gate and the Bay as the backgrounds. Scenes of wild storm and havoc were secured on the ocean. Even Chinatown yielded new secrets for the foreign quarter episode of the story.

Goslin first caused a vast oppression to settle upon the populace with his homer in the opening inning, his third of the season, then scared his boys out of their shoes by hitting five terrific fouls in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

This run, by the way, was where it was because of the longest drive of the series. It would have been a homer in any other spot but Joe Harris chose to hit it up against the screen in remote centerfield. The silence was deafening.

Prosperity Heralded In Soviet Russia By New Cigar Factory

MOSCOW.—Prosperity is heralded in Soviet Russia in wreaths of cigar smoke. For the first time since the revolution, a cigar factory, the Gaverneria, has opened and immediately was flooded with orders.

Until now a cigar was a sign of plethoric wealth in Russia, and a man who walked the streets with a stogie in his mouth was sure to be spotted as a bloated capitalist. Now the workers are the biggest smokers, and the Moscow trade unions alone ordered 25,000 of the new factory's first production.

Mexican growers of sisal, from which our binder twine is made, have just formed co-operative growing societies.

CHAPTER 58.

The sun was a great red ball rolling up Indian Hill, when Amoura, clad in smart riding habit, left Ainsley House and galloped into the woods on the crest, astride her beloved Prince. It was a glorious morning and the intoxicating vigor of the brittle air made her veins tingle with exultation.

"I've neglected you terribly, haven't I, old fellow," she said, as she rode, jockey style, very close to the horse's ears, and gave him a pat or two. His eyes gave an extra blink and he accelerated his pace.

"That's a nice boy, that's a nice boy." Now she wondered how she had ever gotten along so long without riding. This was what she had missed more than anything else in Chicago. Inevitably she was reminded of Vey Ardle, and the magnificent animal he was riding the morning she met him. Why had she heard nothing from Vay? A queer feeling suffused her as the question came to mind. Surely he had read in the newspapers about the kidnaping; all of the horrible details. And after declaring his love. . . . Her heart had a curious little flutter.

She paused at the crest of the hill and sat immovably on the horse, surveying the valley, while Prince pawed impatiently. The morning mist was slowly revealing the ugliness of the town below. She could faintly discern lines of men, like ants, going to work in the factories which belched towers of ominous smoke into the skies. About these factories were the wretched dwellings where the bone and muscle of Westland was born and lived and died. How bare they seemed. . . . Whey not stay in Westland and do something for these people? The vagrant thought floated out of her mind as it was born.

Prince was nibbling at a bush. "I'm hungry, too, old fellow, let's go!" She directed him into the other road that wound around the mount, and sent him into a gallop. Around a bend she heard voices, and thought of turning back and going the other way, for it probably was a party of Riding Club members. But there was not time to turn now. The party, composed of four women and two men, came into view. Lucia Berryman, Marcia Thompson, Eileen Reagan, Grace Vanderpool, Teddy McArthur and Grace's father.

"Hello, Amoura," Lucia shouted. The others greeted her less enthusiastically. Amoura didn't intend to stop, but Lucia reined in. "Why haven't you been to see me?"

"Oh, this is the first time I've been out since I came home." She could feel the curious eyes of the others upon her. She met Eileen Reagan's glance, and the other girl's eyes dropped.

"The Riding Club's annual fox hunt is going to be held next Thursday. You must come, and induce your father to come, too," Lucia announced.

Amoura nooded, indifferently. These people didn't interest her any more. She was not annoyed by their tactless stares.

Prince started on of his own accord and Amoura smiled pleasantly at Mr. Vanderpool, who was one of her father's best friends. Impulsively she turned in her saddle, and called to Lucia: "Come over for tea this afternoon.' She wanted somebody to talk to.

Amoura went home by way of her grandmother's. Prince, breakfastless, was disappointed when she turned into the gate of the sedate mansion of the dowager Mrs. Ainsley, widow of old Thomas Q.

To those of the city who knew this colorful figure less intimately, it seemed that Grandma Ainsley had been in the neighborhood of eighty years old for years and years; but she was only seventy-five now. Her silver hair had made her "look like a grandmother" since she was fifty. Fifteen years ago she really felt like a grandmother, and decided it was time to make peace with her God and prepare to die, but then, in a few years, her mind took another turn, causing her, as she put it privately, to "grow up again." Now she felt very young; she read the new, sexy novels; loved the movies, which she visited "secretly" so as to be alone and see the photoplay twice if she liked it; and went to Chicago every winter for the grand opera season. She felt very young; but to those about her she was very old.

Grandma was not awake, and her maid, old in service and indifferent to Amoura, as she was to all of the Ainsleys but her incomparable mistress, wasn't disposed to wake her.

"Why haven't you been over to see her?" Millie asked. Amoura guessed that her grandmother was hurt because of the neglect.

She turned and went home, leading Prince.

"There was a telephone call for you, Miss Amoura,' Della informed her." A Mr. Johnson."

LONDON SOCIAL SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING

King and Queen Will Welcome Prince of Wales.

TANGO POPULAR

Dutch Ruler Plans to Spend Two Weeks at Buckingham.

LONDON.—London's Fall social season is now in full swing, with the Prince of Wales on his way home from his dominion and foreign tours.

King George and Queen Mary will return to Buckingham palace, from Balmoral castle to give the heir to the British throne the literal "royal welcome.'

What is likely to give the season a really brilliant start will be the return to London of H. H. the Maharajah of Patiala, the enormously rich and popular Indian Prince who recently set the whole country talking about his magnificent mode of living at the Savoy where he stayed for a month with a suite of fifty persons.

Wilhelmina Expected.

The Queen of the Netherlands is to visit London when the King and queen return from the North. She will remain for about two weeks.

It is many years since she visited England, as she travels very little, and her visit on this occasion will be purely an unofficial and informal one.

Since she has been in Scotland this year it is understood Queen Mary has purchased $20,000 worth of antiques, mostly in Edinburgh.

Strange to say, despite her numerous purchases visitors to her private rooms at Buckingham palace see extraordinary few antiques, though there are vast quantities of china. Many of her purchases go as Christmas and birthday presents while the remainder are "dumped' in Windsor castle.

It is said that the queen is an excellent judge of values and has never once purchased a "faked" antique.

Tango in Favor.

All London is now taking tango lessons, for the tango is to be the dance of the Winter. Already the famous Canaro Tango band, with Rosa Canaro, the Spanish singer, is on its way from Buenos Aires to make cosmopolitan London succumb to its insidious rhythm.

With the tango will came tango dresses—longer and wider skirts heavily bound with fur to suggest movement. Waists, however, will be lower than ever and the upper part of the corsage will still cling to the figure only the lower part of the gown being of inordinate fullness.

There has been a definite attempt to introduce the "Charleston." Its rythme has been found too jerky for some English and cosmopolitan dancers, who prefer the swift slinging glide of the fox-trot or the sensuous rhythm of the tango.

Man Dives 2,600 Feet to Death at Yosemite Falls

Yosemite, Cal.—Evidences of a 2,600-foot suicide leap by Theodore Jackowski of San Francisco were found when human bones were found by park rangers at the foot of Yosemite falls.

The suicide was first indicated when hikers recently found at the top of the falls a coat in the pocket of which was a note and a will scribbled in pencil, signed by Jackowski and dated June 7.

The will said Jackowski had loaned Arthur Schwerin of Mayfield, Cal., $1,200 in 1921 and instructed a Redwood City man to have Schwerin pay his funeral expenses and give the balance of the money, except for a small amount, to the Veterans' hospital at Menlo Park, Cal.

While wages are lower in Germany than in many other countries excessive taxes cause costs of goods to mount higher than those outside.

ANDERSON NAMED IN KILLING

TODAY

Columbus—Ohio.
Louis XVI and Marie.
Ladies. You May Smoke.
Insure His Life.

Yesterday was Columbus day. Many stopped work, much to their satisfaction. About the only attention paid to Columbus outside of perfunctory speeches was in vaudeville, thus:

Who was Columbus?
He discovered America.
Where is he now?
In Ohio.

Paris dances the Charleston, jumping, bumping, hideous twisting of feet, knees and all the rest of it, to the tune of "Red Hot Mamma." If Louis XVI and his Marie Antoinette could come back, holding their head on their necks, and see that horrible change from the old minuet, each would say "I am glad they cut our heads off before this happened."

Massachusetts Institute of Technology allows young female students to smoke at dances and other social events in the Walker Memorial building.

For girls intending to marry, smoking is all right, although it makes the moustache grow, and the nose red. Girls that have lives worth while, to marry and have children, should postpone smoking until after 45—and give the children at least half a chance.

A man with a piece of property hard to sell was asked, "What would you do if a man offered you $1,000,000 for it?" He replied: "First of all I would insure the man's life."

The United States sought to insure the life of Martin B. Madden, chairman of the appropriations committee in the house of representatives.

He says the army has been a "spendthrift in the air, wasting millions in experiments without meaning," and he adds that the army ought to build 1,500 new flying machines a year. That's common sense.

Death in the electric chair of Edward Stevenson, a Negro, is news. Killing one murderer more or less wouldn't mean anything, but Stevenson was paralyzed from the waist down, and four guards carried him on

LECTURE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Frank Church Will Open Eagles' Lyceum Course.

Frank Church, lecturer, humorist and entertainer, will appear in the Eagles' temple, Friday evening, of this week in the opening number of the lyceum course which is being offered under the auspices of the degree team of East Liverpool Aerie No. 457, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Church has been given the nickname, "Fighting Red." He went to Europe during the World war where he lectured to America's fighting forces. In this work he was a member of the "Flying Squadron," a group of speakers. Church plays a half dozen instruments and was called "the one-man band" by the troops. He sings humorous songs to his own accompaniment, and gives instrumental solos on the autoharp.

Among his lectures, one of which will be given Friday night, are "The Call of The New America," "The Unexpected," "Ginger and Snuff, or How to Hang on Both Feet," and "Home Sweet Home, or Sunshine With a Punch."

Walls of Fire-razed Cleveland Building Threaten to Fall

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Walls of the fire-razed building of the Elliott Electric Co., here today creaked and moved dangerously and police roped a section of the street off to keep pedestrians at a safe distance. The building burned yesterday, the loss being $100,000. Fire broke out afresh last night but the flames were soon brought under control. Two firemen were slightly injured yesterday, fighting the blaze.

All members of Ceramic Rebekah Lodge are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. temple West 6th St., tonight at 8:30 to attend services for our deceased brother David Jessop.

PITTSBURGH BASEBALL CRAZY AS 45,000 RUSH FOR LAST CLASH SEATS

Forbes Field Stands Taxed to Capacity When Senators and Pirates Meet in Seventh and Deciding Battle of World's Series in Land of Smoke—Scalpers Busy Seeking Customers.

SKITTISH MOMENT FOR HUMAN-FLESH AS PLAYERS STRUGGLE FOR TITLE

Odds of Six to Five Offered on National League Champs Who Expect Washington to Take Second Money and Punch on Chin as They Hammer Ball in Crucial Contest.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—As skittish a moment as ever confronted mortal flesh arrived this afternoon with the seventh and final game of the world's series, and Blondin, crossing Niagara Falls on a tight rope, could afford a misstep no less than, could the Pirates and Senators. Tied at three-all, the team that didn't hit the bull's eye was the team that was to take second money and a punch on the chin.

More than 45,000 fans, the record crowd of the series was here to say that the Washington Senators, having cracked behind a three to one lead, was due for the block. Translated this means that the Senators were to block one with their chin and take a fall. Plenty of money at odds of six to five was staked on this theory.

However, two hours before the gong there was more than a bare possibility that nothing would transpire. Nothing that is except one little drop of rain after another. The forecast was for rain later in the day but noon found the situation so dark that it looked as though the elements meant to score a news beat on the forecaster.

Both Clubs Pray for Rain.

However, if the weather remained as is, Washington hardly figured to be altogether displaced since it was the general thought that Walter Johnson was due to pitch his third game and, mayhap, his third victory of the series.

Walter likes a dark background for his fast one, and today's was no darker than ink on a blackboard.

However, a postponement would prove a boon of great magnitude to both clubs, but a trifle more so to Pittsburgh. It would assure the third appearance of Vic Aldridge in the series and the Senators have seen all too much of him already.

Trifle Lighter at Noon.

Oldham won three games and lost two this season and appeared in only two complete games.

It didn't seem logical to drop a nickel pitcher in the slot and expect to see a million dollar ball game shoot out, but nevertheless, this was said to have been McKechnie's plan no later than 11:15 this morning.

A postponement would have meant a further rest for Johnson's trick leg, but altogether it meant more to the Pirates to carry the situation through another 24 hours. It began to look a trifle lighter shortly after the noon hour, however, there being the moist hint that the sun still existed out where the blue begins.

Morrison in Relief Role.

The great fight of the Pirates in smashing their way back from a discredited second runner to an absolute stand-off with no questions asked, brought the entire town up standing. Quite a lot of the boys remained in that position for the afternoon but through no choice of theirs. Standing room tickets, at $3.30 per lineal and physical foot, were sold for the first time during the series.

Speculators plied their nefarious traffic in hotel lobbies, on street corners and where they might in a short of catch-as-catch-can-miss system of operations. The young men were in excellent voice but the crowd stayed away from them in droves, waiting for a bear movement in the market. It came around noon when the boys started to shave prices considerably.

The Pirates burst upon the scene shortly afterward, and, almost simultaneously, came a report that McKechnie planned to start Oldham only so that he might reply immediately with Johnny Morrison. The latter it seemed felt that he could give a representative account of himself only if he came on in the guise of a relief pitcher.

REV. J. L. SHAW GIVEN LETTER OF DISMISSAL BY PRESBYTERY

PASTOR PRESENT

Will Conduct Services for Evangelical Association.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Toronto, and who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool two years ago, accepted a letter of dismissal from the United Presbyterian church when he appeared before the Steubenville Presbytery, meeting at the Grant Hills church, near Salineville, yesterday, to answer charges brought by the Cleveland Presbytery.

Shaw, who was charged with disrupting the Brooklyn United Presbyterian church of Cleveland by his practice of "divine healing," attended the meeting, bringing with him a mass of affidavits and papers with fourteen members of his congregation at the Cleveland tabernacle.

Rev. W. H. Hubbell of Cleveland and Dr. C. A. Keach of Akron, members of the Cleveland Presbytery, appeared against him.

The judiciary committee of the Steubenville Presbytery heard both sides of the case separately, then called both sides together. Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the Second church of East Liverpool, chairman of the committee, ordered its three conferences held in secret.

A compromise was effected when the presbytery voted to accept the recommendation of its committee.

This was, that as Shaw had suggested, he withdraw from the church, thus removing the cause of the complaints of the Cleveland presbytery; the presbytery remove its complaints and grant Shaw as a minister in good standing a letter of dismissal from the church to the Evangelical association of Cleveland.

Rev. E. L. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver church, near West Point, vice moderator of the presbytery, ordered Shaw to be given the letter of dismissal.

Shaw, who went to the Brooklyn church and started his practice of "divine healing" about a year and a half ago, later going to his own tabernacle, said he would continue to conduct his services there as usual in his new connection with the Evangelical association.

West has engaged a band to furnish music. The street is to be roped off from the C. & P. railroad tracks to Union street. There will be round and square dancing.

The dance will probably be the only general observance of Hallowe'en here. West conducted a dance on the new West Fifth street paving a year ago.

Jersey City Postoffice Clerk Stabs Young Wife to Death

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—George Winters, young postoffice clerk, stabbed his 21-year-old wife, Margaret, to death early today in their home here, according to police. Winters, after stabbing himself, was arrested.

Jealousy was said to have caused the murder.

Mrs. Winters went to an inn last night with two girl friends, two men and a chaperon. Winters works at night and his wife was lonely, police said. The couple had quarreled over this question for the past two months according to neighbors.

Winters came home and not finding his wife inquired at the house of Mrs. Winters' friend, Cecilia Maccricard. He found his wife hiding under a bed, police said.

Winters then walked the streets, later returning home where Mrs. Winters had gone. Neighbors heard screams shortly afterward and called the authorities.

Mrs. Winters was found a few feet from the bed with a knife wound in her shoulder, neck and heart. She was dead.

Winters was bleeding from a self-inflicted stab wound.

Cyrena Van and Jacques Gordon in Joint Recital Will Open 1925-26 Season on Monday, Oct. 19.

Season tickets for the 1925-26 series of recitals to be given under auspices of the Civic Music association will open at the box office of the Ceramic theater at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The series of concerts will open at the theater next Monday when Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Jacques Gordon will offer a joint recital.

Miss Van Gordon is recognized as one of the youngest grand opera stars of the day and is among the most popular concert singers. Twelve years ago when Cleofante Campanini was director of the Chicago Opera company, he heard Miss Van Gordon sing in a religious pageant in Cincinnati. So impressed was he with her voice and dramatic powers that he immediately offered her the contralto role with the Chicago organization. Her debut with the organization was made in 1913, when, at the age of 20, she sang the role of Amneris in "Aida."

Miss Van Gordon's greatest opportunity came when, under Mary Garden's directorship, the Chicago Opera company, she was given the role of Brunnhilde in the "The Valkyle."

The East Liverpool concerts will be open only to members of the Civic Music association.

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 14.—Elwood Judy, 28, of East Liverpool, is under arrest here today on a charge of stealing chickens from Frank Vandyke's coopes at Yellow Creek. Judy, who is a World war veteran, said he and two companions drove to Wellsville to look for "chickens." They were unable to attract the flapper variety to their automobile, he said, so they drove out Yellow Creek and caught a number of the other brand.

Vandyke discovered the trio in one of the coops and opened fire on the automobile when they fled. The whole back end was torn out of the machine and Judy was captured. His two companions escaped. Five fowls were found in a sack in the car.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Charles De Roberts and Mrs. Jack Roth are alike as two peas in a pod and have been all their lives, for they are twins.

They have grown up together from childhood and have become accustomed to doing the same thing at the same time. They even courted together and were married at practically the same time a year ago. Both entered the Bronx hospital together a few days ago. Yesterday they gave birth to babies at the same time. The babies both weighed eight and a half pounds. The only difference being that baby De Roberts is a girl and baby Roth is a boy. Today both mothers were "very well" and happy.

George Anderson, 43, automobile salesman and former Kenyon college football star, was indicted for second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Frank R. McLain, 25, fleet manager for the McLain Yellow Cab agency, here on October 3, by a special grand jury which reported to Judge J. G. Moore in common pleas court, Lisbon, at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

Anderson, who has been a prisoner in the county jail since the night of the shooting, which occurred in the home of his aunt, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Second and Jackson streets, with two other men indicted for other offenses, will be arraigned at 9 o'clock Monday morning. McLain, the victim of the shooting, died in the City hospital five hours after he was wounded in the abdomen. The shooting according to a statement given the police by the dying man, occurred after he had answered a taxicab call and drove to the Anderson home, where he assisted his passenger from the car into the house and up a stairway to a second floor bedroom.

MRS. REMY KREMER AND LITTLE DAUGHTER HAPPY AS "DADDY" PITCHES BUCS TO THIRD VICTORY

By KATHARINE BRUSH.
Special to The Review-Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14. — The evil that men do lives after them. So does the evil other men think they do, whether or not they actually did it. Ask Sam Rice, of the Senators. He knows. He found out during yesterday's world's series game, when Pirate rooters many thousand strong showed what they thought of the catch he made, not wisely but too well, in the game Saturday at Washington, by according him something the sort of reception the kaiser might have been given to Belgium once upon a time.

In my career I have seen many people get what is generally known as the razz. I've seen amateur actors hooked off the stage, and bottles hurled at umpires, and once I saw a politician get hit with a tomato that had lived to a ripe old age. But never have I seen anyone so thoroughly and painstakingly derided as was Mr. Rice at Forbes Field yesterday. The crowd didn't throw things at him. They did worse. The universal boo that arose from the stands whenever he came up to bat sounded like a winter wind blowing through a million pine trees. The roar of approval that greeted every single strike called on him made the head rock and the ears hum. Every time the umpire signified that Kremer had pitched him a ball, the crowd hurled invective upon the umpire, charging lack of judgment, astigmatism, insanity and what-ever-you. And the ecstacy evinced by all hands whenever Rice struck out or was put out on base was second only to the excitement caused by Eddie Moore's four-bagger. Taking it all in all, Rice put in rather a bad day.

How Did Rice Feel?

I have an insatiable curiosity about ball players at ball games. Let any one of them get in any predicament or achieve any conspicuous glory, and I am so obsessed with wondering what's going on in their minds that I often miss the next few plays entirely. The sad plight of the Washington center fielder particularly intrigued me. When he walked to the plate with the howl of approbrium in his ears, how did he feel? Was he smarting with the injustice of the Pittsburgh attitude? Or was he angry, with the violent anger of the wrong-doer whose wrong is found out? The answer to this is the answer to the moot question of whether or not Rice actually made the catch. And that will never be definitely known by anyone except Rice and the boy in the bleachers from whom he either did or did not grab the ball.

I'm a little more sure of what Kremer of the Pirates was thinking when he pitched his team to victory, because I talked to him about it less than an hour after the game was over. "I've been playing baseball for 12 years," he told me simply, "and it's always been my highest ambition to pitch a world series game—and win. Now I've done it, and I'm probably the happiest fellow you ever saw."

He looked happy. I found him sitting in a room at the Hotel Schenley occupied by Mr. and
